Teacher Raise Will Break City, Norton

School Committeeman Clement A. Norton, ousted from his post in Tuesday's election by the campaigning of Boston teachers, charged today they were bankrupting the city and asserted he would fight them for the next two years and then seek election to the committee again in 1949. Losing out to the slate of three candidates backed by the Boston Teachers' Alliance and noting the victory scored in the referendum seeking equal pay for men and women teachers, Norton declared the city was in the "sad situation of having employes controlling the school department.

"The public has been deceived by them," he said. "They are just becoming aware of what has happened and of the Frankenstein which has been loosed on Boston's homeowners and taxpayers.

"They campaigned against me for six months and it was amazing that I received over 50,000 votes. They abandoned their teaching duties to engage in politics, instructing older children to tell their parents to vote against me. They sent children home with political literature in violation of the law.

"They are planning to attempt to force the election of John J. Buckley, a master at Hyde Park High School, as superintendent of schools when Supt. Arthur L. Gould retires next June.

"They are the highest paid teacher group north of New York but we have the second poorest school system in America. They will bankrupt Boston with their aim of more pay and less work."

Meanwhile, women teachers were planning a new fight to have the 1048 of hteir 2254 membership, now classified as elementary teachers, included in the prospective pay increases. At present men and women elementary teachers receive the same pay

RAISE LOOKS ASSURED

Pay increases ranging from $524 to $816 are apparently assured for 854 women teachers in intermediate and high schools, while some 357 teachers in special categories also are expected boosts, although the scale is not yet determined.

Several women teachers in the elementary schools said they felt no concern over this development and expressed confidence they would receive the wage increases in store for intermediate school teachers since the matter will be decided by the school committee.

Reds Now Control Czechoslovakia

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Nov. 6 (AP)—A Communist-engineered government crisis put Communist Premier Klement Gottwald, a former blacksmith, at the top of the heap today as Czechoslovakia's political strong man.

He wrested from the nation's coalition cabinet last night complete authority to rebuild the government of semi-autonomous Slovakia, where the crisis was born and where the predominantly conservative anti-Communist Slovak Democrats are the majority party.

The cabinet decision was interpreted as a major victory in the Communists' open drive to gain complete control over the whole nation. An eight-party coalition now governs.

General to Air Political Tinge To Hughes Airplane Contracts

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—An air force general's reported knowledge of "the political background" of a hotly disputed wartime airplane contract held promise of fresh sparks today at the Howard Hughes inquiry. Ticketed for testimony before the Senate war investigating subcommittee was Brig. Gen. J. F. Phillips whose name figured in last summer's hectic digging into $40,000,000 worth of contracts for two new-type aircraft.

First, however, the committee was due to hear an emphatic denial from Hughes' top business associate that the Hollywood millionaire ought to be handed a bill for nearly $6,000,000 in additional income taxes.

"I am going to take the stand and show just what the Hughes losses were on war contracts," Noah Dietrich, executive vice-president of the Hughes Tool Co., told reporters.

Dietrich already had taken sharp issue with a statement read to the committee late yesterday by one of its own members, Sen. Williams (R.) of Delaware. Williams declared that a study of tax records of Hughes and the Hughes companies show a "tax deficiency of $5,919,921."

Chairman Ferguson (R.) of Michigan, quickly interposed that "no crime or fraud" on the part of either Hughes or his companies is involved.

Williams, Dietrich and Thomas A. Slack, Hughes' attorney, argued for nearly two hours over what the aircraft builder meant last August when he contended that neither he nor his company had made a profit as a result of the war.

Dietrich was still on the stand when the hearing was recessed. He was scheduled to resume his testimony today.

The committee then planned to call Phillips, an air force procurement officer. Ferguson declined to say in advance what line the questioning would follow.

But in the first phase of the investigation, an Air Force memorandum was read into the committee record noting that Phillips had given a conference of AAF officials the "history of the political background of the F-11 project."

Dentist's Wife, Store Manager, Slain in Car

BECKLEY, W. Va., Nov. 6 (AP)—Police theorized today a Beckley business man and the wife of a dentist, both socially prominent, were slain in the back seat of his car and their bodies rolled down an embankment seven miles away.

E. Ray Bailey, 50, manager of the furniture department at a Beckley store, and Mrs. Nellie Mae Rand, 39-year-old mother of two children, were found shot to death yesterday. Mrs. Rand had been shot through the head twice, Bailey once.

State Police reported today they found three spent bullets and blood stains in the back of Bailey's car, parked near the Black Knight Country Club. Mrs. Rand's car was found half a mile away.

Investigators could find no weapon, either in the cars or at the spot where the bodies were discovered, off a lonely mountain road.

Marks on the ground indicated the bodies had been rolled down the embankment.

State Police Sgt. Anthony Scalise declined to name the persons he had interviewed in his investigation but said his men had followed many rumors and thin clues without reaching concrete conclusions.

Scalese reported Mrs. Rand left home Tuesday night to go to a party with a group of women friends. He said he was unable to trace Bailey's movements.

Fulmer said the three slugs he found apparently went through the rear seat of Bailey's sedan and into the trunk. He found the bloodstains in a corner of the seat and on the floor, two coats, and several strands of long, blonde hair.

Experts from the State Police identification bureau in Charleston were sent to Beckley to examine the automobiles.

Mrs. Rand, a slender, 5 foot 4 blonde, married Dr. K. K. Rand in 1929 and they have two daughters, 11 and 13. Bailey had worked for the department store since 1919. He has a married daughter and one in high school.

Girl to Tell Court Of Love Lane Killing

An attractive 17-year-old Lowell girl, whose escort was slain while defending her honor in a Lovers' Lane murder last March 1, arrived in Middlesex Superior Court today ready to take the stand as the government's star witness in the trial of two lowell youths charged with the crime. Accompanied by State Troopers, Miss Maureen Gildea, Third st., Lowell, went to the district attorney's office in the courthouse to await a call to testify.

Ralph P. Dupont, 20, Lilley ave., and Michael F. Coggins, Jr., 20, both of Lowell, are charged with first degree murder in the slaying of Miss Gildea's companion, ex-Army Sgt. Mario Grimolizzi, 26, Hadley st., Lowell.

VICTIM'S MOTHER SWOONS

While Maureen awaited to testify, the courtroom was thrown into a frenzy just before the start of the third day of the trial this forenoon when Mrs. Mary Grimolizzi, the murder victim's mother, fainted.

The 14-man jury had been seated and Judge Pinanski was about to enter the room when the victim's gray haired mother slumped in her chair. She was carried out by four court officers passing by the prisoners' dock where the two defendants were under guard. They displayed no emtion as the woman was taken into an anteroom after moaning, "Moy boy, oh, my boy!"

Court Officer Charles Robinson reported Mrs. Gimolizzi was revived after a few minutes, but was not recovered sufficiently to return to the courtroom where Dr. Mason D. Bryant of Loweell, associate medical examiner, resumed the stand.

SHOT IN CHEST

Dr. Bryant said Grimolizzi, who was shot and clubbed by armed bandits as he sat in a parked car in First st., Lowell with Miss Gildea, had been shot in the chest. The doctor said he found a bullet wound in the chest and cuts and bruises on the head.

The Lowell physician was the third medical witness for the state. He was preceded by Loretta Thiel, 22, Atlantic st., Weymouth, pretty student nurse at St. John's Hospital, Lowell, and Dr. George A. Ryan, house physician at the same hospital.

Earlier, Asst. Dist. Atty. Lyman C. Sprague asserted the murder was committed "with extreme atrocity and cruelty and adequate premeditation." He told the jury Miss Gildea would testify she was able to get a good look at the slayers, adding:

"When the two opened the door of the automobile, a light in the interior flashed on. And while the defendants beat and then shot Grimolizzi, the light stayed on. Miss Gildea had a perfect view of the two youths and will testify to that."

The jurors have been taken to view the secluded spot on First st. where Grimolizzi and the girl were sitting when two gunmen approached their car, forced them to move into the rear seat, and were occupying the front seat when the victim offered resistance.

Amish Farmer Lays Church Boycott To Driving Auto

WOOSTER, O., Nov. 6 (AP)—A $40,000 damage suit filed by a 33-year-old Amish farmer against four church officials accused of causing his social ostracism is expected to be placed in the hands of a common pleas court jury late today. The suit involves imposition on Andrew J. Yoder of the Amish "mite" or boycott, which is based on an article of the Dortrecht confession of faith, adopted in Dortrecht, Holland, in 1632, and generally recognized and used by the Conservative Mennonites in America.

"LIKE WHIPPED DOG"

Testimony before a packed courtroom at the opening trial session yesterday featured a statement by Yoder that he "felt like a whipped dog" since imposition of the boycott five years ago and a declaration by one of the defendant church officials that the boycott had been imposed on Yoder after he transferred his membership to a congregation in another district.

Yoder told the jury of nine men and three women he changed to a more liberal congregation so he could purchase an automobile to transport his invalid daughter for medical treatment.

Regulations of the bearded sect from which Yoder transferred forbid ownership or operation of an automobile.

Yoder testified that shortly after the boycott was announced all church members in Waynes and Holmes Counties refused to have any dealings with him, to assist him in harvesting crops or to eat at the same table.

HEALTH IMPAIRED

The action also impaired his health and caused expenditure of large amounts of money for medical services, Yoder added.

The four defendants, Bishop John W. Helmuth, Ministers Isaac I. Miller and John J. Nisley, and Deacon Emanuel D. Wengerd, appeared in characteristic broad-brimmed hats and acted as their own counsel. Amish Church regulations forbid employment of attorneys.

Their testimony disclosed the boycott had been placed upon Yoder "for the good of his soul" because he had transferred from their congregation.

Won't Ask Tax Acton Now, Truman Says

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—President Truman said his special message to Congress, Nov. 17 will contain no suggestion for revision of tax

He declined comment on whether he will veto a third tax reduction bill up proposed by Republican members of the House ways and means committee.

However, he told a news conference his own message would be confined strictly to the purposes for which he has called Congress back to session. These purposes, he said, are European aid and curbs on inflation.

Told that Rep. Doughton (D.) of North Carolina, had predicted a veto for any tax reduction bill at the Nov. 17 session, Mr. Truman said he will take care of that situation when it reaches him.

It was learned the Administration is definitely planning to offer its own tax program to Congress next year.

The President also said today he wants Congress to act on emergency aid for Europe before taking up anti-inflation legislation.

But he considers inflation controls and European aid equally important and both should be pursued with vigor, Mr. Truman added.

Tatarescu Quits Romanian Cabinet

BUCHAREST, Romania, Nov. 6 (AP)—Georghe Tatarescue, vice-premier and foreign minister, and three other national liberal party members of Romania's cabinet resigned today under pressure from parliament.

Parliament voted no confidence in Tatarescu 187 to 5 as a result of testimony at the treason trial of opposition leader Juliu Maniu and 18 others. The prosecution in the trial claimed to have proved that defendants procured documents from Tatarescu's foreign affairs ministry.

Border Interview With Red Officer Astonishes Lake

By AUSTEN LAKE
Boston American Staff Correspondent

HOF, Germany (with the U. S. occupation force)—This is the thin, wavering line which forms the frontier of two contending worlds. It is the northeast corner of the U. S. zone, and the narrow-minded filter through which misplaced humanity pours south from the Russian occupation area and trickles north from the American—a frazzled, miserable, anxious stream of lost souls which has forgotten its yesterdays and pawned its tomorrows. Only today is real.

MAY BE MAYOR—Belle Cooledge, a retired school teacher, will be next mayor of Sacramento, Cal., if city council follows precedent. She won council fight in that city, receiving largest number of votes cast.
Associated Press Wirephoto

This afternoon, after flying from Coburg for a routine three-hour visit which turns out to be a three-day stay, I had a lucky spin of the dice—a two-and-one-half hour interview with the Russian officer who commands the Soviet crossing point at Hof. It occurred in the Russian guard-hut on his side of the line, hitherto a never-never land to any but official U. S. liaison officers on interzonal business.

My companions, 1st Lt. A. Fitzurka of Haldane st., Pittsburgh, the MG Liaison, and his sergeant interpreter, John Garlewsky of 32 Lawler st., New Britain, Ct., say this is the first time in their frontier dealings that a Russian border officer has submitted to a U. S. newsman's questioning, or allowed such a one on his side of the barrier. These officers are notoriously gruff and antisocial to non-official Americans as a matter of upstairs Soviet policy.

So it was pure, speculative gamble as we rolled under the U. S. road block and over the 200 yards which separate the two spheres of suspicion. My two conductors, though frequent crossers in the line of duty, were skeptical of my reception. For Russia's top brass discourages all fraternization and only lately limited U. S. liaison to the fringe of its zone. "But we'll give it the college try," agreed Fitzurka.

The Russian junior lieutenant was standing near his lowered cross tree, trim and slim in a tobacco-brown uniform with yellow shoulder boards and a blue banded garrison cap. He was swarthy, sharp featured and keen eyed.

SALUTES U. S. SOLDIERS

He saluted the American soldiers and regarded me with unsmiling doubt as Garlewsky explained in fluent Russian who I was and what I wanted. He hesitated then impulsively waved us toward the yellow, wooden guard-hut where four Russian non-coms wearing rows of medals looked startled, but went on stamping documents for a queue of border

WILHELM MUELLER, THELMA DAMERIAN AND NEWSPAPERMAN AT LA GUARDIA FIELD
German Engineer, Taunton Bride-to-Be Interviewed; They'll Wed Christmas Day
Associated Press Wirephoto

Army Nurse, German Fiance Are Reunited

A former German V-2 technician, Wilhelm Mueller, and a Taunton former Army nurse, Mrs. Thelma Damerian, were reunited at LaGuardia Field, N. Y., today when he arrived by air from Germany. The happy couple started for Taunton and announced plans to be married on Christmas Day.

Mueller, who arrived on a quota visa after 12 months of questioning by U. S. Army authorities in Germany, is the first German since the war to fly to the U. S. to marry an American girl.

Wilhelm Mueller

Reticent Mrs. Damerian, who has already bought a house in Bay st., Taunton, for herself and her fiance, said she had paid Mueller's air passage money and also his $10 visa fee.

The couple first met in Boston in 1930 when Mueller was working here as an engineer. Both were married in the interval but Mrs. Damerian has been divorced and Mueller's wife and two children were killed in Germany.

It was not till 1945 that Mrs. Damerian again met Mueller. The meeting took place accidentally in a Paris hospital where she was a nurse and he a prisoner-of-war.

Mueller said he intends to become an American citizen as soon as possible.

12 Children, 5 Adults Flee So. Boston Fire

Seventeen persons, 12 of them children, were forced to flee from their homes in a three-family dwelling in I st., South Boston, today, as fire swept through the second floor apartment causing $4000 in damage.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Eino Heinonen, who lives with her four children and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barone, in the second floor of the house.

Warning other occupants of the building, she fled to safety with her children, Richard, 9; Claire, 4; Eino, 14 months, and John, S months.

Escaping from the first floor apartment were Mrs. Anna Kay and her three daughters, Anne Marie 16, Shirley 11, and Alice 4. Mrs. Kay suffered a cut leg when she was showered with glass as she ran from the rear door.

Mrs. Mary Lunett and her five children, Ann, 13, Mary, 12, James, 11, Carol, 10 and Mary, 6 escaped from Parliament.

Reds Push Probe Of Mikolajczyk

WARSAW, Nov. 6 (AP)—The Moscow-backed Polish government intensified today its inquiry into the flight of Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, which it asserted was "actively aided" by an unnamed embassy, and indicated new arrests would be made shortly of persons suspected of helping the opposition leader escape.

Three of the group who fled with the Polish Peasant Party leader Oct. 20 were declared officially to have been arrested after crossing the Czechoslovak frontier.

They were Wincenty Bryja, treasurer of the party; Mrs. Maria Hutewicz, private secretary to Mikolajczyk, and Mieczslaw Dabrowski, who the government said was a collaborator of Mikolajczyk.

Chicago Rent Increase of 15 P. C. Denied

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Housing expediter Tighe E. Woods today rejected a recommendation of the Chicago rent advisory board for a 15 per cent rent increase in the Chicago area.

Woods said the advisory board failed to "substantiate its recomendation appropriately" as required by the Housing and Rent Act of 1947.

Woods, who was named acting expeditor only last week, advised John Joseph Ryan, chairman of the Chicago board.

"Since your recommendation does not contain any substantial evidence or data as required by the act, it must be disapproved. This denial, however, does not prohibit a future recommendation properly substantiated."

It was the first rent decision by Woods since he succeeded Frank R. Creedon in the housing post.

Creedon had acted on 45 advisory board rent recommendations. One of these resulted in a 5 per cent increase in the Louisville, Ky., area and another in a 10 per cent increase in the Klamath Falls, Ore., area. These were the only two actions involving general areawide rent increases.

Lexington School Has False Alarm of Fire

Firemen sped to the Franklin School, Allen st., Lexington, with sirens silent today to avoid frightening 250 young pupils, but found a false alarm had been set off by a faulty automatic sprinkler system. The pupils remained in the building while officials satisfied themselves there was no blaze.

Burglars Grab $1400 Payroll

Safebreakers forced their way into the Hunt-Rankin Leather Co. office, Beach st., during the night and escaped with $1400 in cash intended for the firm's payroll today, Manager E. G. Meeker reported to police.

Meeker said the thieves, who gained entry by forcing a rear window, ignored two other safes which contained no money and opened the one with the cash by working the combination.

The money was in a box which they pried open with scissors. A total of $10 in coins was scattered on the floor.

RANGOON, Nov. 6 (AP)—The government announced today Prime Minister Thakin Nu had a narrow escape from assassination this morning while returning by auto to Rangoon after a vacation in the interior.

An unidentified assailant fired a bullet which missed the premier and struck a Britisher riding in a jeep immediately behind his car. Unofficial reports said the Briton was killed.

Trick Brings Surrender Of Gun-Toting Landlord

A Boston American photographer's fast foot work brought about the bloodless capture today of 62-year-old Salvatore Rosi, Traverse ter., Malden, householder, after Rosi had armed himself like a walking arsenal to prevent federal and Malden officers from invading his home.

Rosi, who gun-waved a deputy U. S. marshal off the premises yesterday when an attempt was made to bring him into federal court to face contempt proceedings, was outfitted for war today. He had two shotguns and a pistol, all loaded, with ammunition in his hunting jacket and cartridge belt.

His enmity, however, was exclusively for police. When James Delaney, reporter, and Frank Turner, photographer, arrived bright and early today to ask if they might enter Rosi's castle and learn of his battle plans, he was lead-heavy with the ammunition and shooting irons.

TELLS HIS STRATEGY

But he let them in, parked the shotgun where they would be handy, shifted his pistol holster to a more comfortable angle, and —with jug of wine on the table to ward off ennui while awaiting the attack—traced his battle strategy on the table with a trigger finger.

Several hours later, in midforenoon, while Reporter Delaney was telephoning a communique to the office from a telephone elsewhere in the neighborhood, photographer Turner sighted the enemy closing in with an encircling movement.

Two deputy U. S. marshals and a squad of Malden detectives, all equipped with poppers of one kind or another, were rushing the Rosi stronghold. Rosi was still tracing battle maneuvers on the table.

Turner got up and strolled to the door, languidly, carelessly—throwing in a line of nonchalant chatter about the weather and such to keep abreast of Rosi's pauses in the military lecture.

OPENS DOOR AND DUCKS

Meanwhile he softly opened the door and stuck his foot in the opening with all the guile of a house-to-house salesman. Rosi was still talking. When the cops hit the doorsteps, Turner swung the door wide, bowed hospitably—and ducked for his camera.

The invaders caught Rosi with his guns down. They hauled him off for appearance in Federal court this afternoon for hearing on a contempt charge. The law says he failed to heed a preliminary injunction ordering him to provide keys for rear and cellar doors to his upstairs tenants, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Frederick.

REPROACH FOR TURNER

His captors escorted him past a sign marked "Danger" which he had erected near his door as a sort of fair warning he was poison to unwanted visistors.

In exit, Rosi looked at Turner reproachfully. Turner, the soul of camaraderie, gave him one of those it-was-all-for-your-own-good farewells.

SOME VOTE TWICE?

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 6 (AP) — Unofficial returns showed the fifth precinct of Harrisburg's seventh ward hit a new high for voting in Tuesday's mayoralty election — 109 per cent of those registered.

The precinct had 894 persons certified to vote but the count totalled 976. The election board promised to find out where the extra 82 votes were picked up.

Milton, Salem Raids Fail In Holdup Hunt

State Police and Boston detectives, intent on solving last week's two major holdups before the trail grows cold, staged early morning raids in Milton and Salem today but missed their quarry in each case.

Ten officers from a special squad organized to crack the outbreak of banditry that netted $138,000 in 24 hours staged the raids about 3 a. m. after hours of secret preparation.

They visited two dwellings in Salem and one in Milton in search of two men whose identity has not yet been revealed and who have been designated only as John Doe and Richard Roe in warrants obtained in Municipal court shortly after the holdups.

In each of the three houses searched, the occupants assured the raiders that the men under suspicion had not been at their homes for at least a week.

The raiding party, it was reported, was headed by State Detectives Andrew Trodden and Daniel I. Murphy and Boston Police Lt. James V. Crowley. None would comment on the simultaneous raids, timed to catch the suspects by complete surprise.

The raids were further evidence of a conviction among many sleuths that the six bandits who netted $109,000 at the B. F. Sturtevant plant in Hyde Park a week ago today and followed this up with a $29,000 stickup at the American Sugar Refinery office in South Boston are in hiding in this area.

Meanwhile, other officers continued questioning of a 46-year-old Pawtucket, R. I., man seized after a mile-long police chase in Columbus ave., South End.

Possessor of a long criminal record, he was picked up through the alertness of a counterboy in a Foxboro eating place. His arrest was taken as an indication that police may be linking the two crimes with a notorious Providence gang.

The dual investigation of the holdups was directed toward Rhode Island and the bandit gang, after police disclosed the Pawtucket suspect was picked up as a result of a tip that six new $1 bills, believed to be part of the Sturtevant loot, were passed at a roadside stand on the Boston-Providence turnpike soon after the holdup.

The bills bore serial numbers in sequence and the passers were men from a Providence-headed automobile who aroused suspicion by their impatience.

The counter boy, who had just heard a radio broadcast of the Sturtevant holdup, which described the stolen bills as new, became suspicious and after the men had left, obtained the bills from the waitress, in exchange for six bills of his own, and turned them over to Boston police. Police are now checking with a Boston bank that delivered the money for the Sturtevant payroll.

Rep. Rogers to Seek Loans For Vets, Gifts to Paraplegics

Special to the Boston Evening American

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6—Possibility of direct government loans to veterans, subsidies for rental builders and federal payment of half the cost of homes for paraplegics were spotlighted today by Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R.) of Massachusetts as foremost items for congressional action.

The Congresswoman, who is chairman of the House Veterans' Affairs Committee, highlighted these legislative possibilities during an inspection tour of Birmingham Veterans' Hospital.

The Republican legislator also strongly sounded the need for universal military training thusly:

"Some type of universal military training is vital to our national security.

"After the last war the cry went up, 'Get the boys home!' I think many of these boys would rather have stayed in a little longer rather than let our national security reach the state it is in today. We are pretty weak."

Advocating outlawing of the Communist party, Mrs. Rogers voiced the opinion that "Communist 'conspiracy' would be a better name for it than 'party.'"

Pledge to push a bill for 50 per cent government payment on cost of building homes for paraplegic veterans was given by Mrs. Rogers to Ted Anderson and Keith Campbell of the Paraplegic Veterans' Ass'n.

Last Brazilian Envoy Quits Moscow Embassy

HELSINKI, Finland, Nov. 6 (AP)—Mario De Pimentel Brandao, former Brazilian ambassador to the Soviet Union, said there now is no Brazilian representative left in Moscow, as a result of Brazil's severing diplomatic relations with Russia Oct. 21.

De Pimentel Brandao arrived in Helsinki from Moscow last night and expects to leave for Stockholm tomorrow en route to Brazil.

Big 4 Deputies Tackle Germany, Austria Pacts

LONDON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Deputy Foreign Ministers of the Big Four met today—in an atmosphere of pessimism—to tackle the tough, deadlocked problems involved in writing peace treaties for Germany and Austria. The deputies, charged with doing the spadework for a meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers here late this month, convened amid reports that Britain, France, Russia and the United States were as badly split as ever on the major issues in the two treaties.

Some informants, unofficial but usually reliable, said the rift had developed so far that the U. S. already had drafted a plan which would amount to a peace pact with that portion of Germany outside the Russian-occupied eastern region.

Britain was pictured as ready to adopt the role of moderator between Russia and the U. S. in any disputes which develop, and as being more hopeful than confident that accord could be reached.

France appeared ready to play its traditional role in any question involving Germany. One official French informant said his country would oppose any strong central government for Germany such as Russia demanded last spring in Moscow, and would hold out for internationalization of the Ruhr.

The customary question mark hung over the attitude of the Russians. There was speculation that they might relinquish their demands for reparations—$10,000,000,000 was the figure they mentioned at Moscow—to be paid from current production and might suggest general withdrawal of occupation forces.

In any event, the deputies will concern themselves primarily with drawing up an agenda for the later meeting of their chiefs and with charting the agreements and disagreements which must be faced.

Guard Portsmouth Ballots After Recount Demand

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Nov. 6—Police were today guarding ballots cast in the hotly contested mayoralty election in anticipation of a request for a recount.

Mrs. Mary C. Dondero, New Hampshire's only woman mayor, who was seeking a third term, lost out to Cecil M. Neal by a vote of 3219 to 3204 in the original count. Justice Harold E. Westcott of Superior Court ordered the ballots impounded.

TRY BEATING COW FOR WHIPPED CREAM!

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Without a qualm, the Department of Agriculture shattered a dream today.

It was a dream of a cow that would give coffee with cream and sugar.

Don't laugh yet.

Last week the department reported a method has been devised to feed waste pulp of the coffee bean to dairy cattle. It was an important development for Central and South American countries.

So—

Well, any country boy knows that certain feds do affect the taste of milk. Turnips, for instance. Maybe coffee pulp—

"No," said the Department of Agriculture man firmly, "this coffee pulp does not impart a coffee flavor to the milk, otherwise we never would have issued the . . . No, it's impossible. No, you couldn't feed the cow coffee pulp and cane sugar pulp and have . . . fantastic."

Okay. Okay. It was just an idea.

Now what do you suppose a co-operative cow could do with some eggs, whisky, rum and nutmeg during the forthcoming eggnog season?

Army Developing Mobile Radar Unit

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6 (AP)—The Army is developing a mobile radar unit capable of picking out moving objects such as tanks and trucks against their background—something no wartime equipment could do—a second Army radar officer told a group of reserve officers here.

Capt. Jack M. Clark said the new instrument—known as "moving target indication"—now is a machine weighing several tons but said the Army's technicians are working on plans to reduce it to easily handled field size.

Rich Mate, 82, Asks Freedom From Girl, 22

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 6 (AP)—Legal efforts by wealthy Frank Maxa, Sr., 82, to undo the results of a long auto ride into two states—Georgia and that of matrimony—will be resumed Saturday before County Judge W. F. Blanton.

Maxa has told the court he remembered the ride but couldn't recall his marriage to Hazel Rutherford, 22, of Aberdeen, Md., at Lawrenceville, Ga., Sept. 19. He seeks to have himself declared incompetent as a preliminary step to have the marriage annuled.

He testified he and Miss Rutherford took six vacation trips together last year.

In Lawrenceville, Judge E. S. Wages said he recalled the wedding and even remembered the bride's comment on the financial state of the groom:

"Sure, he's rich."

Judge Wages added that he ended the ceremony with his usual phrase, "salute the bride."

"And he sure did that!" the judge said.

Find Home for 11 Who Defied Ouster

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 (AP)—A seven-room flat has been found for the McDonald clan, three members of which had defied attempts to oust them from their Brooklyn home this week after the flimsy building had been condemned by the city as unsafe.

The New York City Housing Authority said yesterday it had located an apartment large enough for 11 members of the family of Andrew McDonald, 4-year-old longshoreman, and it would be ready for occupancy if McDonald is satisfied with it.

City officials previously had offered to find the McDonalds a place to live if they would split up but Mrs. McDonald rejected the suggestion.

"The holidays are coming," she said, "and I want my family together."

All Out Like a Light But—Not From Drinks

CLAIRTON, Pa., Nov. 6 (AP)—Sauntering amiably into a tavern to quench his thirst early today, Harold Ausburn was shocked by both a death-like silence and the fact everyone else there was unconscious. Police said carbon monoxide had felled them, one after another.

Two of the six victims were the tavern owners, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Capristo. The others were a bartender, two patrons, and a policeman who was overcome during rescue work. All were sent to a hospital.

JAP OCCUPATION COSTS

TOKYO, Nov. 6 (AP)—Expenses of the allied occupation to be paid by Japan will total 69,889,000,000 yen ($1,397,780,000) for this fiscal year, the Japanese Diet was informed today by finance ministry officials.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits Poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Birth Control Signatures Probe Sought

Investigation by the Suffolk County grand jury of petitions filed with the Boston Election Commission on the so-called birth control referendum will be demanded by Comr. Joseph A. Langone, Jr., today.

Langone, charging the petitions contained many "fraudulent signatures," asserted he would confer today with Dist. Atty. William J. Foley and would ask permission to appear before the grand jury as a witness.

The commissioner declared that many of the signatures were in the same handwriting and that the same ink was used on many of the papers.

Almost 100 petitions, each containing the signatures of 60 registered voters of Boston have been filed with the commission, he said. The signatures must be certified by the commission.

Under the state law, it is necessary to obtain the signatures of 20,000 registered voters, not more than 5000 of them from any one county, to take the matter before the legislature.

The petitions must be filed with the clerk of the Massachusetts House not later than Dec. 3 in order to insure the introduction of the matter before the incoming legislature.

The petition asks for a referendum on the question of whether or not medical aid may be given by physicians to prevent birth.

Drouth Plagues Maine

Staggered by Fire Losses

Maine, still reeling under the blows of devastating forest fires, is now faced by the equally crippling effects of prolonged drouth.

The $55,000,000 fire loss is likely to be paralelled and even surpassed by the damage to land, industry and hunting revenue if heavy rain does not fall before the frosts set in.

Rock-hard ground, dried-up water holes and trickling streams are costing Maine farmers and industrialists untold worry and disruption. Householders, too, are being deprived of light and heat in some districts owing to sluggish streams reducing electric power.

The Navy is lending assistance here by assigning the 1900-ton destroyer escort Maloy to Portland. The Maloy, capable of generating 4500 kilowatts, will push power through to worst-hit Aroostook County by way of Central Maine Power Co. and Bangor Hydroelectric lines.

No similar aid can be given to the farmers, however, whose ground, without pre-winter rain, will lose its fertility next spring. The lack of power for machines is also hindering harvesting of the 60,000,000-bushel potato crop, and the consequent boxing and assembly line work.

Stock is suffering from the drouth, and with loss of feed through the forest fires burning many barns and grain depots, farmers have been tempted to get rid of their stock rather than continue the unequal battle.

Industry, dependent on river power to drive its lathes and machines, is losing production daily.

Since Sept. 3, only .08 of an inch of rain have fallen, and in the Androscoggin river valley rainfall is reported the lowest in 73 years.

N. G. Charges States Let Down by Congress

By KENT HUNTER
Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—National Guard leaders in the 48 states flatly charge that they were sold a "bill of goods" by Congress when they, the states, accepted a commitment to recruit 681,096 Guardsmen by 1951 for the defense of the United States.

They declare the pledge to get the men was made with the stipulation that Congress would pass a universal military training bill to supplement manpower procurement by direct enlistment.

This Congress has not done, and as a result National Guard strength today is only 160,090, with 681,096 planned for 1951. Both the National Guard Bureau and the adjutants general of the states admit it is a hopeless task to get the needed manpower, plus re-enlistments to replace expirations, by voluntary recruiting.

The National Guard Ass'n, headed by Maj. Gen. E. A. Walsh of St. Paul, and with headquarters in Washington, declared today through an official spokesman:

"The National Guard recruiting program today is far ahead of where it was the same subsequent month after the ending of World War I, but after World War I our final objective strength was 280,000 officers and men.

"Now the goal is 682,000, approximately, and recruiting figures to date show that even under intensive recruiting campaigns enough volunteers are not forthcoming to bring in that many men.

"The mission of the National Guard, under the congressional act which fixed our strength allocation at 681,096, was fixed as a first line citizen-soldier organization, trained, armed and equipped for combat duty on 24-hour emergency mobilization notice in time of any national war emergency so defined by Congress.

"That cannot be accomplished under present voluntary enlistment provisions.

"The National Guard unit commander now has to devote half his time to recruiting activities.. He gets recruits in dribs and drabs and has a constant stream of recruits coming into his unit, so that he must maintain a constant rookie program which delays his unit efficiency training.

"Universal Military Training would send to National Guard units, at fixed intervals, men with six months' basic military education, so that they could take up, in the National Guard units, the specialist training to fit them into a place in the highly technical team that is a modern military unit."

Massachusetts objective in 1951 is set at 27,338 and the strength Sept. 27 was reported as 6060.

New Move for Plan E Referendum in Boston

Demand for legislative action to permit Boston voters to decide at next year's election whether they want a Plan E form of government were voiced anew today after complete returns showed four more Bay State cities adopting the city manager—proportional representation plan.

Plan E won approval of voters in Worcester, Quincy, Medford and Revere, but lost in Pittsfield and Fitchburg. It is already in operation in Cambridge and Lowell.

Fairman C. Cowan, acting chairman of the Plan E for Boston committee, declared his committee, "now in process of being reorganized and enlarged," will file a bill in the Legislature shortly to give the voters of Boston the right to decide for themselves whether they also wish to adopt a Plan E charter.

"It is time to change an undemocratic law whereby Boston is the only city in Massachusetts denied the right to adopt Plan E by referendum," he added.

In Cambridge, Mayor John D. Lynch was running far ahead of his rivals and was the only city councilor assured of victory according to an unofficial count.

In Lowell, former Mayor James J. Bruin was leading a field of 42 for one of the nine city posts which pay $4000 a year.

Lynch polled 3840 votes, about 200 more than he needed to be certain of election.

Other candidates and their votes: Councilor Michael J. Neville, 3492; Councilor Michael A. Sullivan, 2469; former Councilor Edward A. Crane, 2429; former Councilor Francis L. Sennott, 2152; Councilor W. Dennison Swan, 2123; Councilor John J. Foley, 2106; Councilor Joseph A. DiGuglielmo, 2063; Councilor Hyman Pill, 2042; Councilor James J. Casey, 1942; Councilor Thomas McNamara, 1935; Rev. Rembert Stokes, 1926; Charles M. Fosgate, 1822; Christopher Carolina, 1784; Chester A. Higley, 1726; Francis X. McCann, 856, and Ralph W. Robart, 701.

Son, Pal on Trial In Dad Slaying

DETROIT, Nov. 6 (AP)—A boy of 16 and his chum of 17 were on trial for first degree murder today in the brutal slaying of the older boy's father.

William Huegerford, 16, and Edward Small, 17, were being tried without a jury before Recorder's Judge John J. Maher.

The two youths are accused of killing John C. Small, 58, tavern operator and father of Edward. The father's body, stabbed a score of times and with the skull crushed, was found in the Rouge river last June 3.

The state accuses the youths of killing Small in robbing him tavern receipts.

Winant Fears For U. S. Told By Protege

By JAMES WALSH

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 (INS)—Twenty-four hours before he committed suicide, John G. Winant, former New Hampshire governor and ex-Ambassador to Britain, was brooding over the "business as usual" blindness of American business, politicians, farmers and working men.

This was revealed today by a merchant seaman — one of the hundreds of unimportant people whom Winant befriended — who visited him Sunday in his Concord, N. H., mansion.

The seaman, John Julius Nordhoust, 29, American-Danish former student and protege of Winant at St. Paul's Academy in Concord, said Winant answered the door himself and throughout their talk seemed "far away" and distracted. He said:

"Mr. Winant said world conditions were more serious than people realized—that the people of the United States don't know what's coming.

"He said people think the war is over and that everything is all right."

"Mr. Winant was disturbed over the refusal of people at Washington to listen to his warnings of the horrible things to come. He said Washington is oblivious of the future and just muddles along."

He said Winant favored bonuses for servicemen but was critical of politicians "who support bonus bills for the publicity they might derive from that support."

Nordhoust concluded:

"I just had to tell this story. Mr. Winant was one of the finest persons I have ever known. He was like a father to me."

Legless Vet. Wins 10,000 Job

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 6 (AP)—Jack Exler is a little bewildered over his election to the $10,000-a-year post as Allegheny County recorder of deeds but the job doesn't frighten him.

Exler lost both feet in the North African invasion when his ship was struck by bombs.

A week before Tuesday's election, Anthony Gerard, the Democratic candidate for recorder of deeds, died. The Democratic committee added Exler's name to the ballot and the former ranger won easily.

"I'm going to start right away and learn the ropes," said Exler, who is the father of a 2-year-old daughter. "You can do anything you make up your mind to do."

City Strike Threatens To Paralyze Paris

PARIS, Nov. 6 (AP)—Paris was threatened today with paralysis of all public services. Members of unions including power, gas, transport and municipal workers met to "decide democratically the way to affirm their active solidarity with the street cleaners' and water workers' strikes."

The strikers want more pay. The garbage collectors' strike was in its third day and garbage was piled up on the streets.

SEEK FINN BLAST VICTIMS

HELSINKI, Finland, Nov. 6 (AP)—Rescue workers with gas masks searched for additional victims today in the wreckage of a wood pulp factory at Raumo, destroyed by an explosion believed to have killed 20 persons and wounded or poisoned more than 100. Sixteen bodies have been recovered.

Grief Stricken Vet Plunges to Death

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 (INS)—A young New York veteran, grief-stricken and still suffering from battle fatigue, tore himself from his mother's grasp and plunged six floors to his death.

The mother's graphic fears leading up to the tragedy and her efforts to prevent it were told pitifully in her report to the police.

Mrs. Dorothy Ganeles, the mother, said her eldest son, Edward, had been suffering from a nervous disorder ever since his return from overseas. When his father, Hyman, died Sunday, the 25-year-old man became disconsolate.

crossers. We entered a small, inner office where the only furnishings were a smoking stove, a battered desk, a worn divan and a chair.

Garlewsky said with sonorous deliberation that "Gaspodin Lake" wished to ask questions for his newspaper. The Russian said something in a quiet tone. "He asks if you have identification?" said Garlewsky. I fished out my passport and AGO card and offered them but the Russian waved them aside. "He says," said Garlewsky, "that he accepts your word for it."

Pomptly the Q and A tables were turned. Instead of my catechizing the Russian, he quizzed me, displaying a news-hunger and and an abysmal ignorance of American good faith and actions.

This colloquy took place in a voluble torrent of guttural gibberish between the two Russ-speaking Americans and the lieutenant. "He asks," said Garlewsky, "why do we systematically poison the minds of German border crossers against Russia, as being a vicious, savage people?"

The Russian watched me with a fixed half smile as I said I wasn't aware of such policy and he interrupted to say he realized the Germans wanted friction between the two nations and spread dissension on both sides. "They tell you we have many tanks patrolling the border," he said. "They tell us you forcibly restrain Russian workers who want to come here." He shrugged.

A large, badly printed chromo of Joseph Stalin hung on the wall. The young officer dry-washed his hands nervously as he spoke, keeping an attitude of melancholy calm and speaking softly.

"It is common knowledge," he said, "that Americans hire former German SS troopers to do guard and police duty and every time a high administration office is open you appoint a high ranking ex-Nazi!" When I shook my head, he countered by nodding with equal emphasis. "Is it not true that you have a Fascist party in America?"

I asked him if he had heard of our War Criminal trials at Nuernberg; how we are prosecuting the latest batch of I. G. Farben executives for scientific atrocities.

No, he confessed with some perplexity. There was no news of it in the Russian zone. He wished that the Americans would broadcast informational programs as BBC does from London, which he listens to eagerly. He thought Russians would welcome such news. Clearly he did not know that the U. S. State Department broadcasts short wave programs to Russia, which, however, are too feeble for reception.

WOEFULLY ILL-INFORMED

This officer was plainly an intelligent, well schooled man with powers of perception, one of the upper-middle "folk class." But just as plainly he was woefully ill-informed of the world outside his "iron curtain." So now it was clear why he succumbed to the temptation of socializing with Americans at risk of receiving stiff disciplinary punishment. He was news-starved, curious!—an almost pathological trait, I am told, by liaison officers, of middle caste Russians. The common Russian soldier delegates his thinking to others. The upper bureaucracy is sternly intolerant of Western ideas and culture.

The officer said quietly that America's capitalistic economy required and desired war to maintain prosperity; that our ruling class of millionaires wanted another catastrophe. It was the age-worn formula of Lenin and Marx.

The Americans, he said, whom Russians most admired, were the late President Roosevelt, who had "given so generously" to Russian needs, and Henry Wallace (whom he pronounced "Oh-eh-liss"). "But Roosevelt was a millionaire and Wallace a large land holder," I said. He looked a little disconcerted, then replied, if they earned it by labor, they could still be good Communists. Wallace had endeared himself to Russian confidence by frankly admitting that the Truman policy was war mongering, he said.

I said, "But the American people do not want war," to which he replied, vigorously, tapping his chest, "Nor does Russia."

EXCHANGE CIGARETS

The officer pushed a flat box of long-stemmed cigarets, labelled "Papyrus," toward us and accepted our U. S. brand. The tightly rolled Russian tobacco was acrid and dark to the taste. But he dragged the fumes of his U. S. pill deeply into his lungs, expelling it with relish in forked jets through his nose. His eyes evaluated my gabardine trench coat and shoes.

"Some day," he said "I want to visit America," then curiously, "Are there many Americans in Russia?"

I said I thought not, only a few officials, technicians and newsmen. "But we have a good Russian scattering in the United States," I ventured. He lifted his brows without comment, then, inevitably, popped the $64 question. "Why does America refuse international control of the atom bomb?"

I replied that America had originally agreed to such control if Russia would agree to inspection; that Russia had refused; that it was a case of mutual distrust and a question of what common supervisory basis the nations could reach to insure the A-bomb being outlawed as an implement of war.

"Why does America import German scientists who are confirmed Nazis?" I said Russia did the same, but that such Germans were not necessarily working on war implementation.

He was interested in American movies, of which only a certain type were permitted inside Russia, like Disney's "Bambi" cartoon, and "The Great Waltz." He began to hum the Blue Danube and mark time with his fingers. "Ah, that was wonderful, both music and photography." Did Americans see Russian films?

I assured him that we had numbers of theaters which showed only foreign films and only recently I had seen a Russian play, which unhappily—was heavily freighted with state propaganda. To which he rejoined that he had seen a Soviet-made movie showing an American mob chasing a white woman with sticks because she had a baby by a colored man.

He had heard that discharged U. S. soldiers could not get their pre-war jobs back, while Russia gave them all sorts of special advantages, like education, public office, etc. Did we have a large percentage of unemployed all the time?

It was late afternoon when I rose and said, "It is a pity that more Russian and American people cannot exchange views as we have." He nodded. "I think so, too."

He shook hands with a crisp bow, ushered us out to the roadway, and gave a friendly flirt of his hand as we turned back to our line.

"Well, I'm damned," said Lt. Fitzuka, as we rolled away. "I wouldn't've believed it possible." Sgt. Garlewsky nodded wonderingly, adding, "Me, too."

The American guard-lieutenant met us at our barrier with a look of relief. "I was getting worried about you guys," he said. It seemed amazing that the 200-meter width between the two check points was a space denoting Russian-enforced ignorance, suspicion and distrust.

House to Speed Contempt Action Against Film Reds

By DAVID SENTNER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—The 10 Hollywood figures cited for contempt of Congress will be on their way to federal court pronto.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities has discovered a short cut for initiating immediate legal action against the 10 film writers and directors whose Communist party registration cards were put into evidence after they refused to answer questions regarding alleged Communist affiliations.

A statute was uncovered by Chief Committee Investigator Robert E. Stripling which permits Congressional contempt citations to be approved by the House Speaker and forwarded to the U.S. attorney for action.

The citation cases against the 10 film personalities are being sent to Speaker Martin by Committeeman J. Parnell Thomas.

Affirmative action by Rep. Martin is considered certain.

Concurrent with the news of the direct action procedure it was learned that the next phase of the hearings on Red influence in the motion picture industry will see 40 more Communist party registration cards introduced into the official record.

The alleged tell-tale credentials will be linked with the names of more high-salaried persons in the screen colony, including at least one well-known actress, according to a committee spokesman.

HOW ABOUT YOU?

SARASOTA, Fla., Nov. 6 (AP)—How many strokes does it take you to make that morning shave?

The Sarasota Herald-Tribune didn't know the answer, so it polled some of the men in town, asking the shaver first to guess the number of required strokes and then count the razor licks.

Guesses ranged from 12 to 235. Actual counts ran from 38 to 175.

AUTO FUMES FATAL

WILTON, ME., Nov. 6—Medical Examiner George L. Pratt reported today that Ralph G. Macomber, 37, a local mill worker whose body was found in a garage here, died from carbon monoxide poisoning.

CROWD STONES 100 BUSES

BARRANQUILLA, Colombia, Nov. 6 (AP)—Several persons were injured and all bus service was halted when a group of residents, disgruntled by a fare rise from five to 10 cents, stoned and damaged nearly 100 buses.

Incentive Plan For Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—A plan to give the bulk of American aid to European countries which do the most to help themselves was proposed today by Sen. Ball (R.) of Minnesota.

Ball, a member of the appropriations committee which will pass on funds to pay for the Administration's proposed European recovery program, proposed that economic rebuilding materials be furnished on an "incentive quota" basis.

As he explained the plan, countries which could show increases in their home production in semi-yearly surveys would continue to draw full American aid, while those who indicated less inclination to help themselves would be penalized.

Boxing World's Shame Exposed

A Brooklyn heavyweight boxer was knocked out 20 times in two years. A Boston middleweight suffered four knockouts in a week. Yet at no time did a boxing commission step in to halt the permanent crippling which they were undergoing.

Many a fine young prize-fighter has turned into a punch-drunk derelict, with a stumbling gait, because of the inefficiency and greed of some state boxing commissions.

A startling expose of shameful conditions in the boxing world will be made in the article, "The Manly Art of Wrecking Minds," in Sunday's American Weekly, magazine issued with the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

DE GAULLE TO SPEAK

PARIS, Nov. 6 (INS) — The French rally movement announced that its leader, Charles de Gaulle, will speak at a Paris meeting Nov. 27. It will be the former president's first speech since his movement scored a victory in the recent French municipal elections.

Elections

three members of which were just elected with the support of the teachers' organization.

How soon the teachers will draw fatter pay envelopes was also a matter for speculation. Because the legislature supervises the school dept. budget, it was thought likely action would have to be taken at next year's legislative session and no pay raises could be put into effect until next May or June.

These raises would then be made retroactive either to election day or next Jan. 1, it was said at City Hall.

$56.50 TAX RATE SEEN

Mayor Hynes estimated that mounting costs will raise the city's tax rate next year some $10.50 from its present rate of $46.50.

Equal pay for teachers will cost $1,100,000, and the increased expenditures in all city departments will total $15,000,000, it was estimated.

While the teachers' pay bill held the spotlight in the aftermath of an off-year election, fights were still raging in some of the city's 22 wards over the city council contests. Seven recounts are due to be requested before the deadline for filing such petitions expires next Wednesday at 5 p. m.

KELLY, ARTESANI GAIN

Recapitulation by the Election Commission in two disputed City Council contests, Wards 15 and 22, resulted in a downward revision of the margins by which the announced winners carried those districts.

In Ward 15, where Robert J. Ramsey unseated Council President John B. Kelly, Ramsey's vote was found to be only 112 more than Kelly's instead of 190.

In Ward 22, where Councilor Edward C. Madden, Brighton, ran a poor third, the victor, Vincent J. Shanley, was found to have only a 75-vote lead over Rep. Charles J. Artesani. Shanley was originally given a 200-vote margin.

Anticipating a recount demand by Kelly, Ramsey, his family and friends have joined armed police in a round-the-clock vigil in the City Hall basement where the ballots are secured behind a double combination lock.

Latest recruit to stand watch for Ramsey is Joseph Driscoll, Weld Hill st., Forest Hills, a friend.

Driscoll was making himself as comfortable as he could on the hard seat of a chair placed opposite the armed patrolman. Beside the council-elect's deputy on a table lie two candy bars, provided by Ramsey in the event Driscoll works up an appetite and is not relieved.

Other recounts are expected in Ward 3, where Councilor Joseph Russo ran third and Rep. George T. Lanigan was the apparent winner; in Ward 22, where Vincent J. Shanley defeated Rep. Charles J. Artesani, and in Ward 8, where Councilor William F. Hurley bested Charles Iannello.

Also, Ward 9, where Councilor Daniel F. Sullivan won out over Maurice J. Smith; Ward 19, where Councilor Thomas L. McCormack defeated James J. Craven, Jr., and Ward 21, where Councilor Edmund V. Lane was the victor over Louis J. Snyder.

Stennis Victory Sure in Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 6 (AP)—Almost complete unofficial returns from Mississippi's U. S. Senate race for the seat of the late Theodore Bilbo boosted the leader, John Cornelius Stennis, to a wider margin over his four Democrat and one Republican rivals today.

Returns from 1652 of the state's 1716 precincts gave the circuit judge from the small town of Dekalb 50,809 votes—more than 6000 ahead of his closest opponent, Rep. William Colmer (D.) of Mississippi with 44,792. Only a plurality is needed for election.

Mill Workers Seek Pay Boost

Because of soaring living costs, 60,000 workers of New England's 102 woolen and worsted mills will seek wage increases, CIO Textile Workers' Union director John Chupka said today.

90 Lbs. of Stolen Cash Found in Me.

ST. DAVID, Me. (AP)—Ninety pounds of money—$953.36, chiefly in rolled 50-cent pieces—allegedly stolen from an Edmunston, N. B., grocery store, was recovered here hidden in a railroad fire bucket.

Two Madawaska youths, arrested for the theft were held for the grand jury on larceny charges in municipal court.

Police said the youths, frightened on realizing the amount of their theft, placed the money in the water-filled bucket. A railroad foreman, seeking his misplaced bucket, discovered the loot.

Chinese Red Gains Alarm Korea Yanks

By RAY RICHARDS

Special to the Boston American

SEOUL, Nov. 6—American military commanders in Seoul are privately expressing a growing apprehension over the persistent successes of Communist fighting forces in Korea's nextdoor neighbor, Manchuria.

They say the losses of the Chinese Nationalist government, the military strength of which has been reduced to virtual impotence by 10 years of continuous warfare with inadequate supplies, makes the maintenance of a non-Communist Korea the only hope against complete Russian imperialism over the whole north Asiatic mainland.

They feel the showdown must come soon, that the situation is rushing toward events which will cast Korea's future as free land or Russian satellite.

HIGHEST DISPUTE

Whatever the outcome, they say, Korea is now the point of highest dispute between Democracy and Red Fascism in the eastern world. A White Korea would mar Russia's Red map and reduce Russia's strength.

The high American officers of Seoul would be subject to discipline by the War Dept. if their comment was attributed to their names, but they complain that the north China Communist armies, aided by Russia in every way, are about to deliver all of Manchuria to the Soviet Union.

URGE AMERICAN AID

These officers strongly bespeak American aid for China—and soon.

This correspondent has just been told by a Chinese nationalist major general, Li Keen Paik, now in south Korea to survey possible sources of strategic minerals, that the long war with Japan followed by the present civil war with Communism has exhausted the Chinese government to greater degree than anyone in the State Dept. apparently knows.

He attributed this ignorance at Washington to the fact that the State Dept. still has the same sources of Far Eastern information that it had when the New Deal was in flower, which means sources sympathetic to Communism.

Harvard Willed $800,000 By Prof. Harrison Smith

BANGOR, Me., Nov. 6—Harvard University will receive the bulk of the $824,000 estate of the late Prof. Harrison W. Smith, who retired from teaching at M. I. T. 25 years ago to spend the rest of his life in Tahiti. He died recently at the age of 74.

Prof. Smith maintained a legal residence at Lakeville Plantation in this state while he was in the South Seas raising odd varities of tropical trees. A graduate of Harvard in 1895, he left about $800,000 of his estate to his alma mater.

Byrnes Raps Red Jap PW Betrayal

WINSTON-SALEM, S. C., Nov. 6 (AP)—Former State Sec. Byrnes called on the United States to demand the immediate return of an estimated 828,000 Japanese prisoners which he said Russia is holding in violation of the Potsdam Agreement.

In an address before the House of Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church, Byrnes also was strongly critical of the time France, Belgium and Britain are taking in repatriating prisoners held by them.

"Our good faith is involved," he asserted, "because we took the initiative in the Potsdam declaration that promised Japanese troops a safe return home to encourage them to surrender.

"Every day the Soviets hold them as prisoners," Byrnes declared, "it is an inexcusable violation of a sacred pledge."

CENSORSHIP FOR FILMS

UNDER THE FALSE PRETENSE that freedom of speech and of the press has been violated by the exposure of Communism in the motion picture industry, a group of Hollywood's "notables" and excitables have formed a so-called "Committee of the First Amendment"—meaning the First Amendment of the Constitution.

Through this body, they are to conduct a propaganda campaign to abolish the Congressional Committee on Un-American activities, by which Hollywood's disgraceful Communism has been disclosed.

Of course the REAL PURPOSE—in fact, the ONLY POSSIBLE PURPOSE—is to protect, if not to promote, the use of films for the dissemination of Communist propaganda through the motion picture theaters of the country.

Assuming that motion pictures were a part of the press—WHICH THEY ARE NOT—these fantasy makers would still have no case in law or in reason.

There is no such thing as UNLIMITED freedom of speech or of the press.

All speech and publication is subject to censorship and restraint.

Licentious speech may be punished in the police courts.

Slander lays the offender liable to heavy civil penalties.

Publication and distribution of libidinous writings or of lewd printed pictures are against the statutes.

Likewise, the "freedom" of newspapers and magazines is limited by libel laws, both civil and criminal.

Moreover, newspapers may be debarred from the mails if they print lottery material.

THESE JUST and proper restrictions are FORMS OF CENSORSHIP to which reputable publishers make no objection whatsoever.

The reason for them is the protection of public morals as well as the truth and responsibility of public information.

In the case of Communism, the public interest reaches MUCH FURTHER.

Communism, as its entire literature and history proves, is AN INTERNATIONAL CONSPIRACY.

It is manipulated in the interests of a foreign power. And it is directed toward the overthrow of free government and the enslavement of free men.

It is, and always has been, inimically directed against the Government of the United States and the liberties of the American people.

At this critical time in world history, it is being utilized—at home and abroad—as a weapon against America in the "cold war" which Soviet Russia is waging for conquest and which may soon become a "hot" war.

IN TIME OF PEACE, Communism is SEDITION against the Constitution and government of the United States and SHOULD BE PENALIZED AS SUCH.

In times like these, Communism is tantamount to TREASON.

It should be outlawed as such.

It is sheer insolence or worse for radical groups to claim the doctrine of "freedom of the press" as a sanctuary for their activities.

It is sheer poltroonery, or worse, for motion picture magnates to provide a medium for Communism under feeble and insincere protests that they can do nothing about it.

An industry which puts its box office returns above the flag and the nation's security deserves no consideration.

Bad as it is to defile peoples' minds with filth, IT IS VASTLY WORSE TO CORRUPT AND DEBAUCH THEIR PATRIOTISM.

Since the movie magnates are unwilling to keep Communism out of the films, it is necessary for the Government to do so.

The need is FEDERAL CENSORSHIP OF MOTION PICTURES.

The Constitution permits it.

The law sanctions it.

The safety and welfare of America demand it.

'Twas a new feeling—something
Than we had dared to own before
Which then we hid not:
We saw it in each other's eye
And wished in every half-breathed sigh
To speak, but did not.
Warmly I felt her bosom thrill,
I press it closer, closer still
Though gently bid not
Till—oh! the world hath seldom heard
Of lovers, who so nearly erred
And yet, who did not.
—THOMAS MOORE.

A NAME DIFFICULT to pronounce is a distinct handicap to a young woman embarking on a theatrical career. So it is continually claimed. That's why so many ambitious young females with tonsil-tickling cognomens change them. However, it is a difficulty not impossible to surmount. For example, Edith Piaf. The correct pronunciation of Edith's surname sounds like a slightly restrained sneeze. But nevertheless Mlle. Piaf became one of the darlings of the Paris boulevards and is on her way to achieve a similar standing on Broadway and environs. I would like to say Edith is the cutest little trick to come to New York from Paris since Anna Held. But I never saw Anna. And you can't put me out of the Young Old-Timers for that. Anna is an Old Timers' memory. It is over fifty years since she enchanted the customers singing "Won't You Come And Play Wiz Me?" I saw and heard Mlle. Piaf last night. The customers went wild over her. I promised my uncle Al I would never carry a briefcase, bet on longshots or yell "Bravo!" at a theater. But I tossed a few "bravos" at Edith last night. She's irresistible. The kind of girl that makes you break promises. Mlle. Piaf surrounded herself with a variety show which the critics gave faint praise. I thought it was good. Especially the nine young fellows billed as Les Compagnons De La Chanson. Never saw anything funnier than their satire on a symphony orchestra. There was also a trick cyclist who amused me as much as Joe Jackson ever did. Need I say more?

Anna Held

STEVE REEVE, physical culture expert. Recently won the "Mr. America" title. Am told that when he strolls along the streets of Chicago the girls whistle at him. "I don't like it," says Mr. Reeve. "I think they are kidding me." He may be in possession of something there. You know how those Chicago girls are.

ASIDES: An 11-year-old cat named Daisy, of Dorset, England, has been the mother of 161 kittens. This beats the record of that prolific Danish cat Carl Brisson recently told me about . . . Excerpt from set of statistics on current cost of living: "Groceries are up 109 per cent." Rent only 15 per cent. Don't be too hard on the landlord.

PLEASE NOTE: The number of bald-headed men resorting to wigs is increasing. Some men who become excessively bald also lose their eyebrows. For these unfortunate fellows the wig makers furnish artificial eyebrows. A prominent wig maker says: "When a man has a properly made wig and artificial eyebrows they are almost impossible of detection. Only his wife knows his secret." Considering the number of secrets wives know about their husbands it is remarkable and greatly to the credit of the ladies that they do not tell more of them when angered to the point of seeking divorce.

SKATERS: Strolling along Fifth ave. last night the strains of the "Skaters Waltz" drew me in to watch the ice skaters at the Rockefeller Plaza rink. There was a number of feminine skaters attired in shorts, thus exposing their bare limbs to the slightly wintry wind. Of course, all the girls in shorts had beautiful legs. Come wind or rain, or snow or long skirt styles, the girls with symmetrical limbs will nevertheless find a way to reveal and display said symmetry. Not that I am against it.

ASKING: Queries from clients. Q—How far back do you have to go in recalling leadoff man Heine Groh, and his bottle bat? A—Over 30 years, sir. Q—From what story by Thomas Burke was D. W. Griffith's film, "Broken Blossoms," adapted? A—"The Chink and the Child."

BEST OF FRIENDS: "But we still are the best of friends." That is what some divorced people say about their ex-mates. No doubt many such friendships exist. I have a letter from a North Hollywood, Cal., subscriber which says in part: "My ex-husband drops in two or three times a week and invariably takes away my morning paper before I have a chance to read it. My patience is about exhausted."

"Honey, I don't want to interfere with your hobbies, but don't you think you've saved enough string?"

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1947, King Feature Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—For three delirious days and nights, the Statler hotel was just a glamorous little bit of Hollywood dropped into stately Washington, D. C.

Westbrook Pegler

A whole shipload of unreal idols of our dreams flew in to protest about the hearings about un-Americanism. Some Hollywood committee about freedom of speech was back of the party.

By a happy coincidence most of them were on my floor. Sometimes, in the elevator, I even rubbed elbows with them.

I wanted to ask Danny Kaye for his autograph in my book along with the autographs of Leo Durocher, George Raft, Frankie Boy Sinatra and Buggsy Siegel, but I choked up. I lost my nerve.

ONE OF THE GLAMOROUS heroines of the glittering world of make-believe on my floor was that girl who sat on the piano at the Press Club that night when Harry Truman was not yet President and he played a few cross-handed licks and long zips.

The next day some of the Western Senators, who have a rude, frontier way of teasing their intimate friends, joked Mr. Truman by calling him "Professor."

In the slang of the "Wild and Woolly West," a "professor" is not the same as a professor in a college but a merry old scalawag who plays piano in places like "The Last Chance Saloon" and "The Silver Dollar Gambling Hell."

Intoxicated outlaws toss him nickels, dimes and quarters, and girls in short skirts of buckskin, bearing such names as Salome Sal, sing songs about the last roundup.

In their teasing way, next day, the frontier Senators called Mr. Truman "Professor" and allowed as how "that there was a mighty pert bit of calico settin' on top of the pie-arner down to the Silver Dollar last night." He took it all in a spirit of clean fun and a hearty laugh was enjoyed by all.

But after he became President, one of the grizzled old frontier Senators called on Mr. Truman and advised him always to search the top of the "pie-anner" for strange dames showing their limbs, after that.

NOW THIS GLAMOROUS creature was right on the same floor with me. Her name is Miss Lauren Bacall and her intimates call her "Baby," but I suppose it is my fate as a mundane, common man of the workaday classes not ever to have the privilege to call her "Baby."

"Needless to say," I hardly slept a wink for thinking about a certain, glamorous dream girl.

Danny Kaye was the great jewel in the diadem of fame, but "needless to say," Humphrey Bogart too was a "tower of strength" as a drawing card for the moving picture "fans."

TUESDAY NIGHT, Frank Conniff, the young columnist, came into my place. He is amusing because he is so naive and his neck swells and his face gets "red as a beet" when he talks about how mistaken the glamorous characters of Hollywood are—only "dumb" is the word he uses.

"When I think about those guys I was with, and how a lot of them died and then to hear these people how they actually don't seem to know the score when you ask them if they realize this is the way Congress has been running investigations since way before they were even born and, otherwise people would never had learned about Teapot Dome, honest I get so mad——"

Frank sputtered in such a comical way that the rest of us "old heads" just had to break out laughing at his discomfiture.

MR. CONNIFF WAS a combat correspondent in the war right up there "mid shot and shell."

Danny Kaye got a decoration last year. He got an award for his service in being always in the vanguard to protect bulwarks against bigotry. It is an award named after Maj.-Gen. Maurice Rose, who was killed in France.

"I knew Gen. Rose personally," Mr. Conniff said, "and I don't think they honored his name by giving that Rose memorial to Danny Kaye, in my humble opinion. He was a fighting general."

Mr. Conniff got a medal himself, but it was not a medal for protecting true Americanism against Nazi-minded bigots spreading disunity by whispering "Communism" at high-class Hollywood writers and actors.

Mr. Conniff got a medal for swimming. It seems that he was on a landing boat that hit a mine and he swam several wounded soldiers ashore.

Still, even if he does disagree with Danny Kaye, Danny can't accuse him of race hatred. They were Negro soldiers.

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 (INS)—I swore I'd never fall for another one of those "searchers for an unknown girl." But George Pal tells me I can sue him if he isn't on the level about looking for a novice for the part of queen of the forest in "Tom Thumb."

Said I, with cynicism born of long experience: "Oh, yes, you'll probably sign Lana Turner after getting a million dollars' worth of publicity and breaking the hearts of a lot of kids."

That's when Mr. Pal said I could take it to court if he isn't in the market for the following:

A girl between 18 and 19, blonde, beautiful and ABSOLUTELY inexperienced. Not even summer stock or Little Theater training is required. It seems a certain lack of experience and the "fresh" quality are needed to make the role ring true in this million-dollar half-animated cartoon, half-real people opus for United Artists.

Now if he doesn't live up to his promise—I'll take out after him hammer and tongs.

CORNEL WILDE, who has found Hollywood irritating this past year (and I might add, Hollywood has found Cornel ditto), takes six months off from movie making after he finishes "Walls of Jericho."

Pat Knight

Seems by the terms of his contract at 20th, he can have that much time to do a stage play, and while he hasn't selected one, the best offer comes from the Theater Guild.

His wife, Pat Knight, with whom he's been feudin' and fussin' and then kissin' and reconcilin,' is already here looking around for a stage job herself. Whether or not they make it a joint appearance probably depends on the mood they're in at the time.

DOLORES DEL RIO'S letter from Buenos Aires caught me just as I arrived at the Waldorf. She's there to make a South American version of "Lady Windermere's Fan," which is a surprise. Last I heard of Dolores she was in Mexico City.

"Mother and I have been here a month and this is a divine city," writes Dolores. "Time has absolutely flown for us. We have taken a house with an enormous garden and swimming pool—but outside of that, it is nothing like Hollywood! I hate to see my vacation come to an end—but the picture starts next week."

THE GEIGER who goes to Italy for the filming of "Galileo" is Rod E. Geiger, who made "The Open City," one of the finest pictures made during the war.

Geiger says he owns the film rights to "Galileo" and will act as sole producer, Charles Laughton will be associated only as the star. Geiger is also co-producer of "Paisa," which will have its New York premiere in late December.

He says, "It was during my service with the United States Army in Italy that I became enthusiastic about the possibilities of that country for film production."

CERTAINLY HAD a rest for myself and got in some much needed sleep on the Superchief. On the train was Charlie Einfield, heading east to arrange the premiere of his pet, "Arch of Triumph," which opens at Christmas time.

Watterson Rothacker was also aboard, and I met Grace Tibbett (the first Mrs. Larry), on her way to New York to make her home. She is writing a book which she says will be as startling as "The Egg and I"—she hopes!

It did my heart good to see so many old friends when I got off the train in Chicago. Ernie Byfield hosted a wonderful luncheon, and Colleen Moore, Ann Marsters, Joan and Frank Bering, Roy Topper, Nate Gross, Billy Gilbert, Mrs. Leon Mandel, Guy Kibbee and many others were there.

I had orchids from Mary Martin, who said it was the birthday of her little girl, Heller. Heller is playing in "Annie Get Your Gun" with her mother.

PERRY COMO received a letter he prizes. It is from Carmela Columbo Tempest, sister of the late Russ Columbo, thanking him for reviving "Prisoner of Love," Russ' greatest song hit.

"I am quite convinced that you are the only singer with my brother's vocal style and personality. In case they film his life story, it would be an honor to me to have you play his part. I also understand your family background and ours are almost identical."

All of which set Perry up real proud—even though he recently said to an interviewer that if he was requested to sing "Prisoner of Love" again they'd have to handcuff him!

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD AND NEW YORK collected at random: George Raft with Corinne Calvay at Ciro's. Brushing up on his French, maybe? He leaves the 20th for Morocco to make a movie for Sam Bischoff.

Corinne Calvay

The cinematographers, cameramen to you, were the first to answer my plea for funds to preserve and move the motion picture collection in the Library of Congress. Leon Shamroy sent Walter Wanger a check for $500 from the boys.

Joe Breen takes a three-month leave of absence from the Johnston office to vacation in the Caribbean. Steve Jackson takes over his duties.

Ernst Lubitsch has to join ASCAP because he picked out a tune that will be used as a song in Betty Grable's "This Is the Moment!"

Virginia Field, last seen dating the Maharajah of Cooch-Behar, now dates Maharajah Orson Welles at the Brown Derby.

I hear that Howard Lindsay and Russell Crouse have a new story in mind that would fit Rosalind Russell. But they'd want her to do it first on Broadway.

Valli, the Italian beauty, borrowed a truck from "The Paradine Case" company to shop for Christmas presents for Italian children. The gifts should help brighten many bleak little lives.

Bob Howard, Andrea Leeds' husband, is so crazy over horses that he's doing his first acting role in "The Winner's Circle" free for nothing.

Sign of the slowing-down-times: I hear Spencer Tracy won't be called for another movie for four and a half months after he finishes "State of the Union."

As soon as I catch my breath I want to see everything and go everywhere at once in New York. I never fail to get a thrill out of this town.

That's all today. But you'll be seeing what's left of me tomorrow!

My Boston

ANTHONY TIESO, Massachusetts Department Commander of the Disabled American Veterans, tells us he will request President Truman and Gen. Bradley to remove Col. Curtis H. Nance as head of the Veterans Administration in New England . . . The grounds for this request were not disclosed . . . Nance is deputy administrator for this area, with headquarters at 55 Tremont st. . . . Removal of another key official at the branch headquarters also will be requested, according to Tieso . . . The DAV chief said he would ask his department executive committee, at its meeting on Saturday, to adopt a resolution in support of his proposed action.

GINNY SIMMS is in Boston . . . Ginny's father had a perfect ear. Ginny doesn't claim that, but she told Napoleon Gagnon, pianist in Harry Marshard's orchestra at the Copley Plaza Oval Room, last night: "I'll hit the key, you follow it" . . . That was for her 12th number, her seventh encore . . . Ginny never dreamed that staid Bostonians would clap their hands until their palms were red, running her and Harry clear out of rehearsed numbers . . . Between shows, Ginny told us that her son, David, through his father, Hyatt Dehn, is a descendant of Capt. Parker of the Lexington Minute Men. She's boning up on local history, to take Husband Hyatt around on Saturday . . . Don't you worry about our history, Ginny. You're going to make it, here, as you have on the radio, the screen and the music discs . . . The Oval Room will probably be stuffed like a duck, for three weeks, as it was last night.

GOOD NEWS for small Americans: Prof. Philip J. Rulon of the Harvard Graduate School of Education told the special recess commission on education recently that "sarcasm, teasing and putting Johnny in a corner with a dunce cap on, have no place in modern teaching" . . . The recess commission, headed by Sen. Ralph C. Mahar of Orange, is expected to come out soon with some of the most important legislative recommendations in years.

TONY AND SALLY DeMARCO, the dancers, leave Boston this week-end for an opening next Thursday at the Waldorf-Astoria Cirque Room in New York. While here they devised several new routines, one of which they call "Penguin at the Waldorf" . . . Taking a tip from dress designers and song publishers, they dipped into the past and came up with the "Bunny Hug," which they modernized.

KATHLEEN RYAN spent only $446 to run for the Boston School Committee, and got 31,258 votes. She finished fifth, just behind Clem Norton. She is 24 years old and a novice in politics. She is today's miracle-woman of Boston affairs . . . Kathleen did it by working hard and carrying her story right to the voters. She attended every whist party, penny sale, installation, etc., she could find out about. And if they wouldn't let her speak, she simply introduced herself . . . She attacked none of the other candidates, was brusquely assailed by some of them.

A FORMER American Legion oratorical contest winner, her voice never failed her . . . A member of the bar, formerly clerk to the justices of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, she has brains. She also has personality . . . Miss Ryan is a blue-eyed, slender, pretty and very bright looking young woman of Irish ancestry. Her father operates a street car between Fields Corner and Dudley st. . . . How much some of her opponents spent is a subject for mathematical computation.

IF KATHLEEN can accomplish what she did on $446, she should have a political future . . . She invested $236 in newspaper advertising, $210 in cards. And the picture on the cards couldn't have done her much good. You look better than that to us, Kathleen.

SUCCESS STORY: Louis Richmond of Brookline, son of a Boston lawyer, took in more than $1,000,000 last year, at the age of 23. He lives on Park ave. in New York, has a valet, and works in a suite of six offices that would knock your eye out . . . Only a short time ago, he came out of the Navy—an enlisted man—and looked around for something to do. Noting the surplus goods the government was selling, he got Bloomingdale's, the big New York department store, to take some from him . . . But after taking $5000 worth, Bloomingdale's failed to exercise an option to purchase $45,000 worth more . . . It looked like failure for Richmond, until he advertised. Agents of foreign companies descended on him like a swarm of bees . . . Richmond formed the United States Foreign Corporation, hired some executives twice his age, and took the escalator to the Gold Coast . . . The only thing that worries his Boston daddy is that he won't marry some nice, home-loving girl.

NAN BLACKSTONE, who like Hildegarde won fame by creating a mood, is back in Boston, from Miami. The "queen of saloonatics" opens tonight at the Fensgate Satire Room, to which her suave songs are well suited . . . Probate Judge John V. Mahoney once remarked: "A judge is only a lawyer who knew a governor." That went around the country and was stolen by an author as the foreword for a book . . . The other day Judge Mahoney coined another. He disqualified himself from sitting on a case because he recognized, in one of the principals, a man whom he had represented as attorney 20 years ago . . . Said Judge Mahoney: "I have no friends when I'm on the bench."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—My social secretary, Mrs. Tabitha Talcott Pratt, came in this morning hugging herself in malicious glee. I knew her mirth was borne on an ill wind because she laughs only when somebody is getting it in the neck.

"I don't see that loathsome lobbyist around," she chuckled. "I suppose he is hiding?"

I knew she was referring to Mr. Grover Whitney McKeister. She insists he is nothing but a crooked lobbyist, although Mr. McKeister describes himself as a legislative consultant. I asked why Mr. McKeister should be in hiding.

"Because he is under investigation," she chortled. "The attorney general is after him!"

I had visions of armed posses, maybe bloodhounds, tracking poor McKeister through the swamps.

"He always appeared to be such an affable gentleman," I sighed. "I supposed he has committed some heinous offense if the attorney general is after him. What did he do—vote Republican?"

"He is a whited sepulcher," replied Mrs. Pratt.

MISS REID, who had been daintily lacquering her toenails, missed a brush stroke and gasped: "A what?"

"That is from the Scriptures," retorted Mrs. Pratt.

"I wouldn't expect a constant reader of crimson romances to get it!"

A clash of the two somewhat dissimilar females was prevented by the arrival of Mr. McKeister himself.

"When did they spring you?" I asked, looking him over for bullet holes. "I suppose you got out on a writ of horpus mccorpus and are under $20,000 bond not to flee the jurisdiction?"

"I have encountered all kinds of attempted humor around this — er — establishment," replied Mr. McKeister, "but this is beyond me. What are you maundering about?"

"Tabby here says you are a fugitive from justice!"

MR. McKEISTER lifted one John L. Lewised eyebrow and regarded the lady quizzically.

"This was supposed to be confidential," grumbled Tabby. "It has not been officially announced. But the Department of Justice has quietly launched an exhaustive investigation of lobbying.

"It is headed by Irving R. Kaufman, who used to be an assistant Attorney General. He left here to resume private law practice with Eddie Egan, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, but Atty.-Gen. Clark induced him to come back and get the goods on these lobbyists who haven't registered as such with the House and Senate. And I know this swindler hasn't registered because I made it my business to check."

"It was sweet of you to take such an interest in me, dear lady," smirked Mr. McKeister. "But it goes without saying that I am not—Ha! Ha!—a lobbyist. I haven't been inside the Capitol in years."

"I'll say you haven't," snorted Mrs. Pratt. "You don't work that way. That is what prompted the probe. Most of the small fry have complied with the registration law, but the investigators are sure the biggest operators, those with the most active influence on legislation, have not.

"Of course," sighed Tabby, windily, "Mr. Kaufman is going to play havoc with Washington social functions if he follows through. Many of the biggest parties are given by lobbyists who pretend they aren't lobbyists. It will be a terrible blow to the caterers."

"Why?" asked Miss Reid. "Won't they be able to sell any more mud pies for you to throw?"

"It will mean hardly any big parties," said Mrs. Pratt, ignoring the interruption. "The President has canceled all State dinners to save food for the Esquimos or somebody, so who will be left to give big parties but the lobbyists and the foreign embassies who entertain on our money?

"The Hotel Ass'n may get up in arms, and heaven knows what will happen to a couple of our golf clubs. It will also be hard on the Turkish baths because if people do not go to parties they will feel in no need of a Turkish bath the next day."

"Please keep quiet! Now—as I was saying—Mr. Charles Luckman, of the citizens' food committee, may be all in favor of it at first thought, because it will save a lot of food. But he may feel different when he discovers it will also save a lot of soap."

"You may not be aware of this, but many of our best people take an extra bath before they go to a social function!"

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

APPARENTLY IT IS OBVIOUS now, even to the international economists who are working on the Marshall Plan or the Bevin Plan or whatever you want to call it, that the United States will not have 18,000,000 pounds of food for export before the next harvest year.

As a matter of fact, after we deduct our commitments to Germany and Japan, which we occupy with our troops, and the Latin American countries whose economies are based on the import of grains and fats from the United States, we shall be fortunate if six or seven million tons of food are available for export to Europe out of the shortened harvest this year.

So the Europeans come up with the idea that we give them the money to spend anywhere in the world That sounds reasonable unless you know something about foreign exchange whereupon the idea becomes utterly fantastic.

Suppose a large number of American dollars were shipped to the Argentine to buy grain for Europe. Those dollars are worthless to the Argentinians unless they can buy something with them here. Actually, the government of the United States becomes the debtor of the government of the Argentine because it has to redeem the dollars. To get the dollars back we have to let the Argentine buy what they want to buy here, even if we ought not to do the selling because we have a shortage.

SUPPOSE WE WERE to say to the Argentine:

"You keep these paper dollars and get choked with them."

Can you imagine the Argentine turning in its wheat or meat on any such risk? Before they shipped a bushel of wheat or a pound of meat, they would have a contract stipulating what is to become of those dollars. The signing of such a contract would stimulate a price rise in this country. Anybody would know that except a government expert.

The only shipments to Europe therefore which the United States should underwrite are those which actually arise in this country. Last year, the United States—one country—furnished one-half of the world's overseas crop, due to a bumper crop here. But we are paying the penalty in exorbitant prices. Edwin G. Nourse's proposal for reimposed price controls on a few commodities will not solve our problems; In fact, it is a silly departure from all experience which shows, beyond doubt, that controls are either total or ineffective.

To control wheat, for instance, without controlling corn, rice and barley would only mean that wheat would disappear and the prices of corn, rice and barley would rise. This is particularly true when the government buys for export. And the government would buy at political rather than controlled prices.

The country cannot guarantee on the present figures, any nation its food supply. We shall give what we are able to give, but we purchase a liar's reward when we promise more than we actually have within our own domain.

FOR SOME REASON, our rulers find it difficult to think straight about this. Last year we exported more railroad equipment than we could afford to, with the result that our own railroads were left with inadequate replacements and wretched efficiency. That has slowed up the economy of this country. In fact, it has slowed up relief as there were insufficient cars to ship grain swiftly and piles of it were left in the fields for lack of storage. The people down in Washington have all sorts of co-ordinators, but they do not seem to be able to co-ordinate their data and their ideas.

To summarize: We shall have between 12,000,000 and 15,000,000 tons of food surplus over American consumption. (I am giving both the low and high estimates.) This surplus must be divided into three parts:

1—To our occupied areas, Germany and Japan; 2—To fulfill our Latin American obligations; 3—To the 16 Marshall plan countries.

We should use for export only what we have and we should give to the Marshall plan countries what we do only as a gift. As a gift, they can only get what is left over from the other two categories, between six and seven million tons. Why not tell the truth about that?

Clubwomen Ask Stricter Laws on Sex Offenses

WORCESTER, Nov. 6—Women wish to be guarded against assaults and desire stricter laws for sex offenders, according to resolutions adopted by the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs at the annual fall meeting here.

The 1000 delegates, representing 75,000 Federation members, urged more rigid enforcement of probation laws and firmer legislation for probation of old offenders.

Boy, 15, Jailed for Life in Whisky Killing of Cabbie

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Nov. 6 (AP)—A jury required only 30 minutes' deliberation to convict Berry J. Glenn, 15, of murder in the slaying of Paul Herron, 36, Atlanta taxi driver.

While on the stand as the only witness for the defense, young Glenn said he shot Herron in self defense last October after an argument over the purchase of whisky.

10 KILLED IN BLAST

HELSINKI, Nov. 6 (AP)—At least 10 persons were killed and between 50 and 60 injured in an explosion at a wood pulp factory at Rauma on the Gulf of Bothnia.

Dies After Rescue In Boiler Blast

Despite the efforts of a fellow worker to save him after a boiler explosion in a Lynn building, Russell Whaley, 31, of Dunreath st., Roxbury, father of two children, died today at Lynn Hospital.

Julius Cohen, 35, of American Legion hgwy., Dorchester, who dragged Whaley from the boiler as flames followed the blast, was in serious condition at Lynn Hospital with body burns. His condition was reported fair.

Deputy Fire Chief James O'Neil began an investigation into the explosion in the basement of a store in Market st., Lynn. Police said the men had installed a fuel tank and were trying to check a leak.

Dentist Forgives Chaperon Sister

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 (AP)—Dr. Joseph S. Chapin, 40, bachelor dentist who said his sister was overzealous in shielding him from the fair sex, withdrew a charge of disorderly conduct against her, and the complaint stood dismissed today.

Smiling and apparently congenial again, they appeared in Flushing magistrate's court and Chapin told Magistrate Henry A. Souffer:

"We've reached an understanding."

The dentist brought the charge against his blonde, unmarried sister, Shirley, 32, Oct. 22. Police said he told them the charge was brought because Shirley had ordered from his office women patients whom she thought were inappropriately dressed for a professional call.

Police also said he told them that Shirley made him cross the street whenever a pretty girl approached, snapped off the radio when he listened to soap operas with love interest, and made him take subway seats where he couldn't view pretty women.

Sharbutt of Radio Held in Wife Beating

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 6 (AP)—Delbert Eugene Sharbutt,, 36, identified by sheriff's officers as Del Sharbutt, radio announcer, was booked on suspicion of wife beating by officers who said they found him and his wife, Margaret, 35, unconscious on a neighbor's lawn.

Sheriff's deputies Hal Light and G. M. Walker said in a written report that Mrs. Sharbutt told them, while being treated for a broken arm, swollen eye and lacerations, that she and her husband had visited a night club.

Later, the officers answering a call to the Sharbutt home reported, a neighbor, Fred Ray, told them Sharbutt chased his wife out of the house, beat and jumped on her. After he came to the rescue, they quoted Ray as saying, the announcer fell to the ground.

Bradford Orders Negroes in Guard

Gov. Bradford today went on record as opposed to racial segregation in the Massachusetts National Guard "as a matter of principle."

He told John T. Lane, president of the National Ass'n for the Advancement of Colored People:

"I do not want to see any candidate for membership denied his wish because of race, color or creed. The matter is left to the discretion of the states, and that is the position I take regarding Massachusetts.

"During the recent war, Negroes and whites fought side by side with great credit to both races. There will be no discrimination in Massachusetts."

DIFFER ON DUDS

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6 (AP)—Blonde dancer Flo Ash, often billed as "the cutest little nudist," has obtained a divorce from Pietro Gentile, operatic baritone.

"In my type of work I don't wear many clothes," she testified. "He thought it was degrading, when it was really interpretative and highly artistic."

She said they separated a month ago.

They were married in Burbank, Cal., Valentine's Day, 1944, several weeks after she divorced Bruce Wilson, an aircraft technician.

Leaking Ship Nears Newfoundland Port

Leaking in one hold, but in no immediate danger, the Canadian freighter Louisburg with 46 crewmen was proceeding toward St. Johns, Nfld., today, escorted by the Coast Guard cutter Dexter.

The Louisburg sent a call for help from a position 1200 miles northeast of Boston and the Dexter, returning here from a weather patrol, was first to reach her side. The crippled vessel is making about three knots in rough seas that are subsiding.

Mabel Van Buren, 69, Early Film Star, Dead

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6 (AP)—Mabel Van Buren, 69, former stage and screen actress, died here, after a brief illness. Requiem mass will be celebrated tomorrow.

She attained screen prominence with the development of feature-length movies in 1914 and starred in Cecil B. De Mille's "Girl of the Golden West." Her daughter, actress Kay Van Buren, and a granddaughter survive.

Woman Held in Lonely Hearts Gyp

PUEBLO, Col., Nov. 6 (AP)—A "lonely hearts" correspondent today was charged with using the mails to defraud farmers who sought her companionship, Deputy U. S. Marshal M. C. Dameron said.

Ella Marie Nelson, 41, was arrested on a ranch near Springfield, Col., by Dameron and a postoffice inspector on an indictment issued by an Oklahoma City federal grand jury.

The government charges the woman placed advertisements in farm journals, offering companionship to lonely farmers. When anyone replied, the information states, she asked for money for her transportation to the farmer's home but never fulfilled the mission.

N. Bedford Candidates Set Record for Quiet Campaign

NEW BEDFORD, Nov. 6—The quietest municipal campaign on record here will be climaxed next Wednesday when 40,000 citizens will be eligible to select their municipal office holders.

GI TRUANTS

PARIS, Nov. 6 (AP)—William E. Share, U. S. embassy attache for veterans' affairs, released government subsistence checks and a warning today to 65 veterans enrolled at a Paris art school under the GI Bill of Rights.

He said his last spot check at the school showed only two of them in class.

"You said, 'Tell it to the judge'—and now he won't let me!"

Solons to Let Labor Bill Stand

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—The door to any major changes in the Taft-Hartley labor law by the next Congress swung almost shut today.

Chairman Ball (R.) of Minnesota told a reporter he thinks it extremely unlikely that the joint congressional committee appointed to study revisions in the act will find any need for alterations.

Heavy London Fog Ties Street, Thames Traffic

LONDON, Nov. 6 (AP)—A 200-mile bank of heavy fog, one of the year's worst, reducing visibility to a few yards and slowing transport to a crawl.

In the rush hour today several million workers were delayed. Thames river services were cancelled, and two buses collided. Twenty-five injured passengers were given hospital treatment.

Death Notice

FOSTER — in Dedham, November 4th, Henry D., husband of Phoebe (Coolidge) Foster, of 307 Curve Street, East Dedham. Funeral services at the Waterman Chapel, 495 Commonwealth Avenue, Kenmore Square, Boston, on Thursday, November 6th at 2:30 P. M.

Hunt Fails to Find Crashed Plane

SAN RAFAEL, Cal., Nov. 6 (AP)—The sheriff's office said an airplane was reported to have crashed near Mt. Tamalpais last night, but army searchers said early today they had found no trace of it.

Army air rescue headquarters at nearby Hamilton Field said no plane in this area had been reported missing.

Ground crews scoured the area around Mt. Tamalpais, a few miles north of San Francisco, but found no evidence of a crash.

TYPHOON OFF MANILA

MANILA, Nov. 6 (AP)—A U. S. Navy reconnaissance plane radioed today a typhoon was headed directly for Manila from a point 290 miles east. The plane reported winds of 143 miles an hour at the center of the storm.

Arthritis Pains In Back Hands Legs-Arms

Nitroglycerin Perils Firemen

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6 (AP)—Firemen risked their lives to grope through clouds of smoke for a bottle of nitroglycerin stored in the basement of a suburban Brookline pharmacy.

James D. Ross, 38, owner of the drug store, first discovered the blaze in the basement and—realizing the possibility of an explosion—ordered several customers and his wife, Idema, 35, to the street.

Members of the Llanerch volunteer fire company responded to Ross' telephoned alarm and located the nitroglycerin

Queen Mary Strike Ends; 2000 Eat, Liner Sails

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Nov. 6 (AP)—A seamen's strike finally settled, the liner Queen Mary prepared to sail on the late afternoon high tide today for New York, more than 24 hours behind schedule.

The 2000 passengers, including the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, got their first full meal since boarding the ship at breakfast today.

STRIKE IN 3 LONDON HOTELS

LONDON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Waiters in three of London's most exclusive hotels struck today, following a seven-months dispute over dismissal of a waiter at the Savoy. The other hotels affected are Claridge's and Simpson's.

THE FUR STOLE has transcended the utilitarian realm into the class of versatile elegance and new-season subtlety. Here executed is natural wild mink . . . it is a luxurious "throw" over dresses, suits and festive coat. Beautifully matched skins . . . rounded at the ends of the stole . . . make this fur innovation one of the most readily accepted of all the fur designs. —R. M.

Lana a Soap, Water Girl

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

THE "GENTLEMAN is a dope" who wouldn't give a second, sighing glance at Lana (pronounced Lahna) Turner . . . proof positive why gentlemen (specifically Tyrone Power) prefer blondes. And newspaper men, those great figures of the fourth estate, are no "dopes".

At a luncheon tendered Miss Turner on her one-day visit to Boston . . . hosted by Charles E. Kurzman . . . the press, male and female, glimpsed the naturally-beautiful star of "Green Dolphin Street."

Lana's glamor is not the artificial kind. She doesn't wear false eyelashes, nor heaps of makeup. Her cameo-soft face with its Dresden-like features is framed classically and elegantly with a most simple blessedly-blonde hair-do.

One thing is certain . . . the glamorous Lana doesn't try to play the glamor role off the celluloids. She acts naturally and comfortably with soft-spoken charm and graciousness. She isn't even a "new look" gal . . . for she admits she dislikes unpadded shoulders and skirts with a becoming length. Hers are worn at the widest part of her calf. A disciple of the Adrian-clothes philosophy . . . she likes architecturaly-perfect clothes . . . minus padded hips, etc. She wore a tailored red-striped, gray wool suit.

THIS IS a glamor pose of the screen glamor-gal, Lana Turner, whose visit to Boston will be remembered for a long time to come . . . since members of the fourth estate, particularly the men, glimpsed the reason why gentlemen prefer blondes. But Lana (she pronounces it Lahna) is kind of fed up on the glamor tag. She endorses the natural feminine look!

FRESH, CLEAN SKIN

And she is a soap-and-water gal. That's what she told me. Because of the extensive make-up requirements before the Klieg lights with layers of cosmetics part of the routine . . . she resorts to an exclusive soap-and-water regime in keeping her skin fresh and clean.

She uses a light film of foundation and no rouge on her cheeks. Her deep blue eyes are just illusioned with mascara . . . their brows cleanly and neatly outlined. Her lip coloring is bright

"Maybe it isn't the right thing to say, but I use soap and water on my skin. My complexion needs the thoroughness of a good complexion soap and the astringent qualities of water to keep it fresh," she explained. "I think girls should look natural to look feminine. There should be a wholesomeness of countenance and not a footlight look on the street."

Obviously, the extensive use of creams and lotions on the complexion to make it receptive to the photography of the cinema must be counteracted with the vigorous cleansing of soap and water. Lana's complexion appeared to me to be on the slightly oily side which, of necessity, therefore requires the beauty routine she adheres to.

She didn't reveal what complexion soap she uses. But we suggested one. And here it is. It is a milky complexion soap which, when gently massaged into the face and throat . . . particularly with a soft complexion brush . . . cleanses the skin of extraneous waste matter, keeps the pores well-flushed and maintains the natural silkiness of the skin itself.

For the name of this milky complexion soap for a soap-and-water routine, a la Lana Turner, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, daily except Sunday, or write me, care of the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Should See Other Boys

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I am 15 years old and recently met a boy who I think is very nice. Since then he has come to see me often, and I grew to like him very much.

Suddenly, however, I found that he had broken up with a girl before he met me. At a recent dance, he met this girl again and made up with her, and I was cast aside. He still acts very fondly toward me, giving me the impression he still likes me. Should I still like him or should I try to forget him? "R."

Dear "R.":

If you want to carry a torch for a chap who is trying to pay attention to you or drop you just as he happens to feel like, that is your affair. But I can't see why in the world you should care to do anything foolish.

I don't see any sense, either, in being so dramatic as to talk about "trying to forget him." The sensible thing to do is simply to treat him in an offhand, friendly fashion, but not act as though you were devastated because you are not his No. One girl any more. Just play around with the other boys and let this one know that you are not dependent on him for good times.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY put more order into your life. Have a program for work, for pleasure, for saving and for self-improvement, and follow it. Persons born on this date are liable to become too careless for their own good. Impose a little regimentation on yourself. The stars indicate that it will be good medicine.

'Peace Plates' Nutritious

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

FOR SEVERAL WEEKS we have been reading about the Citizens Food Committee in Washington.

Within this committee is a Consumer Service Section, headed by Miss Katherine Fisher, director of Good Housekeeping Institute. This latter group is working with food editors throughout the country—planning menus, recipes, hints on marketing and cooking which, in turn, can be presented to homemakers.

In co-operation with the Consumer Service Section of the Citizens Food Committee, we shall include each week in our columns, suggestions for economy meals which will be known as "Peace Plates." They are planned in the interests of better, health, eating, and budgeting. Our first suggestion is a fish dinner.

PEACE PLATE

Golden Fish Saute
Potato Shreddies
Crisp Green Salad
Baker Prune Whip
Custard Sauce
Tea or Coffee

GOLDEN FISH SAUTE

2 lbs. fresh fish (halibut, haddock, cod, mackerel)
½ cup corn meal (*)
1½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. pepper
¼ tsp. paprika
1 egg, slightly beaten with 1 tbsp. water
⅓ cup fat

Remove skin and bone from fish and cut into pieces for serving. (If desired, use fish fillets.) Mix corn meal and seasonings. Dip pieces of fish in beaten egg, then in seasoned corn meal, and saute in hot fat in frying pan until golden brown on one side. Turn carefully and brown on other side. Serve hot with lemon wedges. Makes 6 servings.

(*) Substitute leftover fine dried bread crumbs for corn meal; or dip fish in milk, then in seasoned flour.

To make dried crumbs: dry out leftover bread in warming oven or in slow oven. When crisp, put through food chopper, or break up and roll fine with rolling pin. Sift, if desired.

For the quickly made salad, toss together shredded lettuce or other greens, grated raw carrot, diced green pepper, bits of cheese and enough salad dressing to moisten.

POTATO SHREDDIES

½ raw potatoes, peeled, grated and drained
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
½ to ⅓ cup fat

Combine potatoes and seasonings, mixing lightly with fork. Melt part of fat in heavy skillet over high heat. Drop small portions of potato mixture into hot skillet; spread each portion out thin. Fry on each side over high heat until nicely browned. Replenish skillet with fat as more potato mixture is added. Makes 4 to 6 servings. Variation: Add 2 tablespoons grated onion to potato mixture.

BAKED PRUNE WHIP

2 egg whites
¼ cup sugar
Pinch salt
1 cup sieved cooked prunes
1 tsp. lemon juice
Custard sauce

Beat egg whites until quite stiff. Then add the sugar and salt gradually while continuing to beat until stiff. Fold in the prunes in thirds, then add lemon juice. Pile lightly in a greased or oiled 1½-quart baking dish, and bake in a slow oven (300 deg. F.) for 45 minutes. Serve cold with custard sauce made from the 2 leftover egg yolks. Makes 4 servings.

Avoid Older Clothes

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

LITTLE GIRLS who spend the week in school learning third grade reading, writing and arithmetic love to spend their Saturdays playing dress-up. They raid their mothers' closets for her old high-heeled shoes and her cast-off dresses and hats. Then they mince around in their adult finery, striking rather wobbly poses and chatting in pseudo grown-up voices of the high prices of food and how difficult it is to get Junior on the right formula.

This is a phase of childhood and cute in its place. It isn't cute when girls of 16 and 17 (scarcely children) renew this phase in a miscarried effort to look sophisticated. These girls, straining for an effect they can't possibly attain except in caricature, throw their young beauty away when they wear clothes more suitable to their mothers' age than their own.

The fresh loveliness that is the special treasure of adolescence should be complemented with the pretty, young clothes that are so prominent in the present styles.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

HERE COMES OUR BRIDE

The "first time" bride correctly wears white. Satin is the traditional but not the only choice for her wedding dress. This season she may wear faille (silk or nylon), brocade, lace or any of the novelty cotton materials if she prefers.

Smart Set — Plan Barn Dance

By BETTY ALDEN

WESTON TOWN HALL will resound to such comical hayshaker expressions as "duck for the oyster," "dig for the clam" or "ladies' chain" at the festive barn dance to be given by younger residents of the town Monday evening, Nov. 10. Proceeds will benefit the Weston Community League.

The phrases are calls in square dancing which will be featured by Miss Louise Chapin, caller and teacher. Dungarees, cottons and blouses and skirts will be the appropriate costumes of the dancers and there will be a cider and doughnut bar.

Mrs. Edwin B. Holmes, 2d

Committee for this merry occasion includes Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Rogers, co-chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Viles, 2d, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Eichorn, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bradford Holmes, 2d, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Wilkes, Mr. and Mrs. Granton H. Dowse, and Mr. and Mrs. David Bradley.

MRS. RALPH GRAY gave a tea yesterday at the Boston Architectural Center to celebrate the opening of an exhibition of lovely water colors by her late husband, a noted architect and artist.

As a tribute to the artist and his charming wife 165 of the 175 friends invited sent acceptances to Mrs. Gray. They included many friends who followed with interest Mr. and Mrs. Gray's travels all over this country and abroad which are pictured in the colorful paintings now on exhibit.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Scaife dropped in to admire the vistas of Cape Cod that look so inviting on a grey November day. Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. T. Mott Shaw, of Concord, who told friends they are on the lookout for an apartment in town for the winter.

Mrs. Gray's daughter, Mrs. John Buttrick and Mrs. Alice Merriam Dale, were hostesses with their mother, the former in gun metal wool and the latter in a cranberry red wool dress and matching hat. Friends are delighted with the news that Mrs. Dale and William Otis, one of Boston's most popular bachelors, are going to be married in the near future.

Others attending were Mrs. William Dana Orcutt, Mrs. Ralph Bradley, Mrs. Frederick S. Whitwell, Mrs. George C. Shattuck, Mrs. Henry Davenport, Mrs. Edwin Dodge, Mrs. Fiske Warren, Mrs. Frederick Alley and many more.

TO CELEBRATE the 20th season of the Boston Morning Musicales a dozen of the women who were debutante ushers at the first concert in 1927 will join the debutantes of 1947 in ushering at the concert next Wednesday.

They are Mrs. John MacDuffie 2d, Mrs. Madeleine E. Bryant, Mrs. Francis G. Shaw, Mrs. Alexander S. Neilson, Mrs. James M. Newell, Jr., Mrs. Richard L. Bowditch, Mrs. Cecil I. Wylde, Mrs. John Toulmin, Mrs. John H. Finley, Mrs. Robert H. Hopkins, and Mrs. William Tripp.

They were entertained at tea at the Junior League yesterday by Mrs. John W. Myers and Mrs. H. Parker Whittington, co-chairmen of the concerts.

Also attending were the 1947 debs who have been invited to usher, including Jane Cox, Lindsay Febiger, Marjorie Dean, Nancy Blackall, Wendy Howes, Francine Jaques, Jean Flint, Mary King, Ann O'Day, Molly Reynolds and Miriam Jo Williamson.

Also hostesses at the tea were Dorothy Rackemann, chairman of the usher committee, and her assistants, Mrs. James L. Hutchinson, Jr., Sarah S. Reed, Mrs. David Lutkins and Mrs. John W. Myers, Jr.

Armed Units Lauded On Aid to Maine

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Defense Sec. Forrestal commended the three armed services for their part in assisting Maine residents in the recent forest fires in that state.

The efforts of the Army, Navy and Air Forces, Forrestal wrote the services, "reflects great credit on all who were involved."

Fund Aides Gird For Drive Finale

With little over a week remaining, "off coats and work for success" was the motto for today's third report meeting on the 1948 Community Fund campaign. Guest speaker will be Most Rev. John J. Wright, Auxiliary Bishop of Boston.

With 35 per cent of the goal figure still to be reached, Chairman Philip H. Theopold asked on "complete and thorough job before it is too late."

Campaign headquarters announced encouraging signs. Subscription of $10,000 was received from Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Webster of Boston. An anonymous gift of $750 was also sent to the Fund.

Maiden reports indicated higher contributions than last year with Converse Rubber Co employees bringing in $3387 compared to $2216 last year, and the Lawson Machine and Tool Co. reporting a 78 per cent increase over last year. Louis Patkin, chairman of the auto accessories dealer division in Malden, announced a 247 per cent boost.

Pilot's License Revocation Urged After Near Crash

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Civil Aeronautics Administrator T. P. Wright today had recommended that the Civil Aeronautics Board suspend or revoke the pilot's license of Charles R. Sisto of Los Angeles, who recently resigned from American Airlines.

Sisto was check pilot in charge of the American Airlines DC-4 plane which plunged almost to the ground when its controls were locked on a westbound flight near Mount Riley, N. M., Oct. 8. When Sisto resigned from American, a CAB report said he had admitted engaging the gust lock—a device used only on the ground to prevent the controls from being buffeted by the wind—"to determine what action, if any, it would have."

Rome City Council Breaks Deadlock, Names Mayor

ROME, Nov. 6 (AP)—Rome's city council elected Salvatore Rebecchini, 56, a Christian Democrat, as mayor.

The election broke a year-long political deadlock over the mayoralty. After an election last November the political balance was so close no one could get a majority.

'Henry V' Sale at Kenmore, Downtown

Tickets will go on sale tomorrow at the Kenmore Theater box office, Filene's and Jordan Marsh for the limited exclusive engagement of Laurence Oliver's Technicolor triumph, "Henry V," opening on that screen Wednesday.

Sponsored by the Theater Guild, "Henry V" is now playing return engagements at reduced prices in a few key cities.

In keeping with the nationwide policy, all seats for the twice-daily performances will be reserved. Showings begin daily at 2:30 and 8:30 p. m., with extra matinees Saturdays and Sundays at 5:30 p. m. There will be special student matinee rates Monday through Friday weekly.

"Life With Father" Now in 11th Week

"Life With Father," Warners' rewarding Technicolor version of the record-shattering stage hit, is now in the eleventh week of its run on the Modern screen. It had completed ten weeks at the Esquire Theater when it terminated its engagement there Tuesday night.

The Record-American pays $50 in weekly prizes for news and picture tips. Call City Editor, LIBerty 4000.

Kenmore's 'Nightingales' Something to Sing About

By PEGGY DOYLE

With required native thriftiness, the French filmmakers, dove-tailing a maximum of wit and inventiveness with a minimum of budget, again come through with a persuasive, altogether delightful comedy in "La Cage aux Rossignols" ("A Cage of Nightingales").

Now tenanting Kenmore Theater screen, this latest French importation, produced by Gaumont (Paris), has some of the heart-stirring warmth of our own "Going My Way," although it is not on a par with the Crosby-Fitzgerald classic.

Doubling as star and author, the repetitiously named Noel-Noel stars in the role of a thwarted, little teacher and writer who has been working at a variety of odd jobs before he becomes a tutor in a veritable lion's-den of a reform school.

Inhuman discipline and a headman that might have been created by Dickens have combined to turn the schoolboy delinquents into a classroom of young hellions.

Without any mawkishness and with infinite understanding and patience, the new instructor sets about winning his students' trust through fairness and encouragement of their vocal talents (with the exception of one habitually off-key lad, who's put to work as a human music-stand).

The Gallic young Mr. Chip's Boy's choir, a heroic task of organization and friction-shattering in the beginning, eventually brings the boys one by one to the tutor's side. The envious superior, alarmed at seeing his own sadistic theories reversed, discharges the now beloved young tutor.

However, there's a joyous denouement.

Noel-Noel, a cartoonist and chanteur before he became one of the French screen's most popular comedians, is superb in this rare for him straight role.

In "A Cage of Nightingales," the Kenmore management has something to sing about.

"FOREVER AMBER," with Linda Darnell in the title role, continues to do turnaway business at the Paramount and Fenway Theaters. It is continuing a second week.

INJURED BY CYCLE

Michael Griffin, 61, of Adams st., Quincy, was in Quincy Hospital with a broken leg today after being struck by a motorcycle near his home.

'Golden Earrings' for Met

"Golden Earrings," which co-stars Ray Milland and Marlene Dietrich in what Variety describes as an anti-Nazi fox vs. Gestapo hounds plot, is scheduled to follow "The Foxes of Harrow" into the Met on Tuesady.

Dietrich goes gypsy in this one, black hair, brown skin and, naturally, golden earrings, but the gorgeous gams give her away.

The word on this one is good, and in addition to the marquee value of the names of Milland and Dietrich the presence of Murvyn Vye, reported to give a first rate performance as a gypsy king, is certain to bring his hosts of fans to the theater during the run.

SCOLLAY, OLYMPIA BILLS

Now showing on the Olympia and Scollay screens is Warner's latest Bogart-Bacall co-starrer, "Dark Passage." On the same bill is "When a Girl's Beautiful," starring Adele Jergens.

Danny Kaye in "Up in Arms" at Laffmovie

The Danny Kaye-starring Technicolorful musical, "Up in Arms," is now being revived on the Laffmovie screen.

Constance Dowling plays opposite Kaye. Dinah Shore is also importantly featured and there is a glamorous supporting cast.

PEDAL PERILS

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., Nov. 6 (AP)—Jerry Casey, 31, and his wife, Jean, divided a pair of crutches and observed it had been a tough week on their feet.

Mrs. Casey shot off the middle toe on her left foot while wrestling with a jammed rifle.

Casey suffered three broken toes on his right foot in a power plant accident.

See Two Million Bookie 'Handle' On ND-Army Tilt

By JACK CONWAY

THE PROFESSIONAL bookmakers are giving 16 points on Notre Dame to win from the Army. It is expected that this price will result in more than $2,000,000 being wagered on the gridiron classic.

The official price is 6 to 5, either way with the bettor allowed to give or take points. In the event of $600,000 being wagered on Notre Dame and an equal amount being placed on the Army the total pool would be $1,200,000. This would assure the bookmakers of a profit of $100,000 regardless of which team won. This would represent 8½ per cent of the total handle.

This is even better than running a race track where one has to make a huge investment for a plant. The bookmaker who can balance his book, with as many persons asking Notre Dame as the Army, does not have to invest even a slim dime to get his 8½ per cent of the total handle.

The bookmakers do not have to concern themselves with the ability of the rival elevens. They merely have to offer sufficent points on Notre Dame to attract Army money.

The general public, as well as persons close to football are of the opinion that Notre Dame will win. The 16 points on Notre Dame offered by the bookmakers may not attract sufficient Army money, and if they do not the point margin may be increased to 18 or 20 points.

The mathematicians who are employed by the bookmakers can figure out quickly on the amount of money wagered on each eleven just what profit the particular betting agency will receive.

In view of its national standing, the Notre Dame-Army game attracts more betting than any gridiron contest.

It is likely that $10,000,000 is wagered on college football games each week. The point system, like the weight handicap arrangements in horse racing, are supposed to send each eleven on to the field with an equal chance of winning as far as the wagering is concerned.

It would be interesting if some bright young man were to get the number of points offered on each major game, and then figure out how the favorites fared. It would be unnecessary for them to figure out how the bookmakers fared. They always win even though few of them know the difference between the words cum laude and a forward pass.

Army Peak Game for Notre Dame

THE ARMY GAME will be the peak contest of the season for Notre Dame. It is the clash Frank Leahy has waited for since the days when he was at a Pacific outpost during the war and he got reports of Army teams headed by Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis crushing his Irish outfits.

Last fall this writer sat in at the Yankee Stadium as a postwar Notre Dame team held Army to a tie score. Now that Notre Dame has an improved team and Army is without the services of Blanchard and Davis it is expected that Leahy will gain the revenge he dreamed about when he was in Navy service in the Pacific.

Columbia's victory over Army took some of the edge off Saturday's contest. The public as well as the men of Notre Dame would have preferred an undefeated West Point team battling the Irish. The contest has retained most of its interest with the public despite the Army's loss to Columbia. The stadium at Notre Dame will seat 56,000 persons, but millions of others in all parts of the United States as well as in foreign countries will listen in on what happens on Saturday.

Army Has Poor Pass Defense

ARMY HAS a poor defense which is one of the reasons the bookmakers have given 16 points on Notre Dame. One has to possess a tight pass defense to halt Johnny Lujack who has real ability, backed by years of experience. Incidentally, Lujack was Notre Dame's passer on the team that scored its last victory over Army in the Yankee Stadium in 1942. Lujack took over the passing for Notre Dame after Angelo Bertelli was called into active duty by the Marines in the heart of the football season. Lujack then went on to help Notre Dame defeat Navy, Army, Northwestern and the Iowa Sea Hawks.

Middlebury Hopes To Keep Home Slate Clean

MIDDLEBURY, Vt., Nov. 6 (AP)—Undefeated at home all season, the Middlebury football squad has hopes of keeping that record clean when it meets Union here Saturday.

Coach Duke Nelson has been stressing defense against forward passing.

Ivy Meeker, fleet end, is back in action after two weeks absence because of injuries.

Tufts' Backfield Set For New Hampshire Game

The Tufts backfield against New Hampshire Saturday is expected to be composed of Julie Doliner, a talented passer and runner, and Johnny Calagione at the halves, Capt. Hop McKinnon at quarter, and Scooter Haines at fullback.

John Daley, another able passer, will see much action.

Did Leahy See Army Play Villanova?

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 6 (AP)—The favorite mystery around the Army citadel just before the Cadet football squad takes off for South Bend is whether Frank Leahy, Notre Dame's coach, wandered among these battlements incognito in the opening week of the season and watched Army beat Villanova.

A correspondent for a New York paper wrote from South Bend yesterday that Leahy had, indeed, been here for the Villanova game, and that he had rested a calculating eye on Army's offense and defense.

"All I can say is that if Leahy was here he didn't make himself known, and that we didn't see hide nor hair of him," commented Coach Earl Blaik of the Cadets. "It's interesting, though. I've asked my staff, and none of them knew he was here. No, I haven't seen Notre Dame," he added with a smile.

If nothing else, the incident perhaps is illustrative of the state of athletic relations between the two schools which will clash in Saturday's biggest game, the last of a series which began in 1913. Many things are going unsaid, but it will be a long time before the Cadets and the Fighting Irish renew their gridiron rivalry.

Coach Blaik and his squad of 39 were scheduled for a final workout on the plains this afternoon, and were to entrain for South Bend at 10 p. m. tonight. They will reach the battle site in time for a last limbering up tomorrow.

It has been difficult to tell just how the soldiers feel about their chances against Notre Dame, but this much is for certain: They do not feel any team can lick them by a big score. The impression is strong that they think they have a chance of winning.

Blaik's lieutenants have sung very low. They have pictured the Irish as the biggest, roughest, fastest gang of footballers ever, and have expressed heartfel pity for the poor little Cadets who must face Leahy's mastodons. Blaik, himself, has been considerably more literal about it.

"How do I think we'll come out?" he repeated thoughtfully in the course of a long conversation last night. "Well, it's only common sense to know what we're up against. We're facing a great team out there, and we know it. I would say that our task is only super-colossal."

Prior to that, the Army coach had discussed his team at great length, and most of what he had to say about his boys was good. Under questioning, he had admitted that his line was about as strong as last year's, thought not as big, and he had uttered words of praise for a number of his backs.

From the way he kept returning to Gus Dielens, his second-string passer, one easily gathered the impression that he expects Dielens to toss a lot of leather against the Irish. Blaik stressed that Army's only hope of victory lay in passing—and in breaking up the passes certain to be flung by Johnny Lujack.

LEAHY MOANS

..SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 6 (INS)—Predictions of rain for Saturday afternoon caused Notre Dame football coach Frank Leahy to moan afresh today over his team's "chances" against Army.

"If rain materializes," Leahy said, "our best offensive weapon—passing—will be destroyed."

BU Frosh Ace Passer

By BILL GRIMES

One of the finest breeding grounds of football material in this country is Western Pennsylvania. Johnny Lujack of Notre Dame and Arnold Galiffa of West Point are products of that area. There are 16 varsity players on the current Penn State squad also from that section of the Keystone State.

During the years they were developing winning elevens at Duquesne, Coach "Buff" Donelli and his assistant, Steve Sinko, recruited most of their outstanding players from this coal mining region. And when they left Duquesne to enter the service, Donelli and Sinko had established the Dukes nationally.

The B. U. freshmen will be quarterbacked by Billy Pavlekowski when they take on the strong Dartmouth "frosh" on Friday afternoon at Nickerson Field. Billy is the son of a Pennsylvania coal miner. His home is Tower Hill No. 2 in Luzerne Township, about 40 miles south of Pittsburgh.

Billy's father became a coal miner at the age of 15, just before Word War 1. He worked long hours and for low pay to give his children an education. He is a sports fan so when he learned that boys in his section who were standouts in football were getting scholarships from various colleges, he decided to make athletes of his sons. His young Joe attracted enough attention while playing for Redstone High School to receive a bid to enroll at Notre Dame.

Ken Stilley, a former Fighting Irish tackle who was coaching Clairton High School, discovered Joe. So when he went to South Bend to be Hughie Devore's assistant during the recent war, Stilley took Joe with him. Joe is now with Devore and Stilley at St. Bonaventure.

Young Billy, who stands six-two, weighs 177 and is only 18, grew so rapidly that his father became concerned over his health. Billy was a fine student in high school and his dad wanted him to go to college. So the father put the youngster through a training course. Billy quarterbacked the Redstone High, where he became adept as a forward passer.

Two years ago, Billy's father came home from the mine one night with what looked like a football under his arm. Upon examination, the football turned out to be made of locust, weighing about ten pounds but shaped exactly like a regular football. The father had had the wooden football turned out at the mine. He instructed Billy to spend so much time every afternoon passing the ball with his younger brother Albert. The prescribed exercise not only developed Billy's arm and shoulder muscles but it gave him the feel of a football. So, when he went out for high school football that fall, the regulation pigskin seemed as light as a feather and Billy began to develop into a great passer.

In all probability, there isn't a better passer on any New England freshman squad than Billy. He's uncanny pitching footballs from five to twenty-five yards. He has remarkable accuracy and his ability to "lead" receivers is astounding.

Billy hasn't been the recipient of any "rave" notices from the sports writers this fall for obvious reasons—too much sabotaging of freshmen. But it will be well worth a journey to Nickerson Field next Friday to watch this son of a Pennsylvania coal miner.

Rugged Tilt For Maine

Self-styled football experts in Maine received a shock the past weekend and quickly drew in any and all predictions they had made that the Maine State series would be limited to Bates and the University of Maine. According to them, Colby and Bowdoin were both out of the running.

They were partially right at that. Colby, at this time, seems to be destined to finish in the cellar again, as it did last season. But Bowdoin has suddenly sprung into prominence, due to the stiff battle the Polar Bears gave Bates Saturday, losing in the final minutes, 9-7.

The Bowdoin-Bates tussel proved much closer than anyone had predicted, and now the Maine rooters are beginning to wonder if the road to the title is going to be as easy as they once thought it would.

Saturday, Maine will have an opportunity to see just how tough Bowdoin really is. The Black Bears are expected to win, but only after a tough battle.

Bates is expected to have it fairly easy against the Colby Mules for the latter was drubbed by Maine, 33-6, last Saturday.

NEW PLAYS FOR JEFFS

AMHERST, Nov. 6 (AP)—Special plays have been installed in the attack Amherst will use on Saturday against Rensselaer Polytech. The starting Amherst backfield is expected to be Sandy Keith, Bob Neinaber, Capt. Grant Ford and passer Ned Barry.

Credit for B's Fast Start Belongs to Goalie Brimsek

By the Associated Press

The Boston Bruins pace the National Hockey League today and a lion's share of the credit belongs to goalie Frankie (Mr. Zero) Brimsek.

Brimsek is performing in the style that marked him as the top net tender in the business before the war. The 32-year-old star has allowed only 14 counters in eight games while the Bruins have scored only 16 over the same stretch.

Last night, he made 27 saves as the Bruins nosed out the Chicago Blackhawks, 2-1 in the circuit's only encounter. The win enabled the Bruins to snap a tie with the Detroit Red Wings for the top rung while the loss was the Hawks' seventh in as many starts.

Joe Carveth tallied within the first two minutes of play for the Bruins and Woody Dumart tallied what proved to be the winning marker within less than a minute after the second period began.

The Hawks' lone score came shortly after the half way mark of the middle session with the Hawks' new line of Gaye Stewart, Gus Bodnar and Bud Poile accounting for the marker. Stewart rapped in the counter.

The trio was acquired recently along with defensemen Bob Goldham and Ernie Dickens from the Stanley Cup champion Toronto Maple Leafs for Max Bentley, two-time circuit scoring king and rookie Cy Thomas.

In addition to accounting for the lone goal, the new trio, known last year as the "flying forts" because they all hail from Fort William, Ontario, played spectacular hockey, pressing the Boston defense continually.

Goldham and Dickens also played fast games. Twice in the scoreless third period, the five Toronto importations appeared as a unit. At the start, Goldham teamed up with bone crushing Johnny Mariucci, the Hawk captain, on the backline.

Lytell in Feature Go

By JACK CONWAY, JR.

Bert Lytell, Californian middleweight, has been matched to fight Charlie Early, Boston, for the 10-round feature of the Dempsey A.A. fight show at Mechanics Building next Tuesday night.

Lytell is one of the outstanding middleweights in the country. Early has been winning with a great degree of consistency in recent New England bouts. Charlie, does not punch as hard as Lytell but moves around the ring faster.

Johnnie Shkor writes from Baltimore that he is finishing up his training for the Walter Haefer bout which will be held at the Arena next Monday. Shkor is staying in Baltimore to train because of the ample number of sparring partners in that section.

Haefer, who hails from Washington, D. C., arrived in Boston this morning accompanied by his trainer Charlie Goldman. He is a former Marine Corps heavyweight champion.

"Dooley" Spagnolo's next fight will be against Tony Ferry. They were matched before but Ferry injured a rib in training . . . Tommy Sullivan's injured hand is responding well to treatment. He injured it more while knocking out Mad Anthony Jones, Oct. 20 at the Garden . . . Early has beaten Joe Blackwood, Al Costa, Georgie Martin, Art Aragon and Jerry Boisvert . . . RICHARD "BUD" WEDEL, 205-POUND GUARD
Swifty of the Wake Forest Line Who Is Death on Safety Men

Deacs Pack Plenty of Grid Power

By RED HOEY

Boasting tremendous power and football "savvy," together with plenty of player depth, Wake Forest comes here well heeled for its big test with Boston College Saturday afternoon at Braves Field.

The mutual opponents both the Eagles and the North Carolina boys have played this season furnishes a fair line on what to expect when these teams square off.

Both teams have met and defeated Clemson and Georgetown. WF registered a single touchdown win over the Hoyas while BC won, 27-6, from Georgetown. Clemson had the satisfaction of scoring fairly heavily against both teams. Clemson fell before BC, 32-22, while they lost to Wake Forest, 16-14. Clemson gave powerful Duke a real battle before bowing 13-6, in a rugged game. But the North Carolina boys were not so good against Williams & Mary which ran up 21 points to shut them out.

Like BC, Wake Forest will bring a big line to the Wigwam. Every man in the line goes over 200 pounds, and one player, Jim Duncan, left end has 295 pounds packed around a 6-foot frame. Bob Leonetti, at left guard, tips the scales at 230. The visitors' lightest lineman is Henry Clark, the center, who weighs an even 200 and stands 6.1. Henry will face an opponent who can hardly be called a pigmy in Ed Kennedy, 245 pounds and 6.6 high.

WF has some leaner men in its backfield, which doubtless will make for speedy ball carrying. It has one bruiser, George Pryor, a 210 fullback.

NO BC-IC TICKETS

Its ticket allotment for the game with traditional rival Holy Cross over subscribed, the Boston College Athletic Ass'n announced that no further applications for th game (No. 29) will be accepd.

They have a couple of men for the tailback position who will doubtless be closely watched by the Eagles. They are Tom Fetzer and Bud Lail.Both share the passing and punting duties.

WF is deep at every position and this is bound to count in their favor. BC prowl in its Georgetown rout the value of frequent substitutions when Coach Denny Myers kept the tempo alive by using 42 of his 44 players. WF has 38 players available for Saturday's game.

The Eagles are out to avenge the 12-6 setback they received a year ago. But Coach Myers appreciates the tough task that lies ahead.

The WF coach, Douglas "Peahead" Walker, is one of the South's most colorful mentors. He did a hitch with the Rochester team of the International League before he settled down to the job of football coaching.

Many B. C. Reserves Would Be Regulars on Other Teams

Although they don't make the headlines very often, the reserves on the Boston College grid squad may very well make the difference in the all-important clash with Wake Forest Saturday.

Coach Denny Myers can call upon a talented group of "standins" when the going gets tough. In fact, many a coach would welcome with open arms the talented personnel which makes up the B. C. second team.

Roy Norden, Stan Goode and John Ring are a standout group of ends. When regulars Art Spinney and Captain Angelo Nicketakis need replacement, any one of these three boys can fill in very capably.

Norden's one of the tallest man on the squad. He stands 6 ft. 3 and weighs 215 pounds. The 21-year-old sophomore from Roslindale is an able pass receiver. He played at English High before coming to the Heights and he's coming along very fast. It won't be long before he'll be pressing the starters for first string honors.

Both Goode and Ring have started games this season. Goode, a 210-pound sophomore from Fitchburg, is a good man on the defense while Ring's forte is pass snagging. All three wingmen will see plenty of service against Wake Forest.

Myers has a pair of tackles, John Furey (210) and Ed King (225) who would be regulars on many major college elevens. Furey's a junior while King is one of the few seniors on the squad.

A sensation as a freshman on the Orange Bowl team, Furey returned to the Heights last fall after service in the Army Air Corps. He was edged out of a starting berth by burly Ernie "Horse" Stautner, but he's seen a lot of action this fall.

King, a regular on the '44 informal eleven, fills in for John Kissell. They're a tough pair to face.

Art Donovan (235) and Al "Ugh" Murray (210) are the guard replacements. Both are sophomores. Filling in for Mario Gianelli and Dom Papaleo, Donovan, a New Yorker, and Peabody's Murray keep the center of the line solid.

Newburyport's Bob Chouinard (198) is the second-string center. A vicious blocker and tackler, Chouinard revels in the tough going. He's exceptionally effective on pass defense. Built along the lines of a fullback, Chouinary can really pick 'em up when he latches on to an enemy aerial.

With the return of regular Ed Clasby, little Steve Stuka moved back a notch at the quarterback slot. The 160-pounder from Clinton played the major portion of three games this season and did very well. He started against Kansas State, L.S.U. and Villanova.

Despite his lack of size, Stuka's a capable, smart field general. Popular with his teammates, he's a spark plug. Myers uses him a great deal on the defense.

A look at the reserve backfield strength of the Heightsmen is enlightening. Myers has close to a dozen adept ball toters to spell the starters Joe Diminick, Maurice Poissant and Bob Palladino.

Chief among the reserves is fullback Ed "Butch" Songin. Actually he shares the fullback assignment with Palladino. "Butch" was the starter in the opener against Clemson, but suffered a heel injury and sat out the next two games. Myers shifted Palladino from right half to fullback and the Natick sophomore played so well that he started the last two BC games against Villanova and Georgetown.

Another Songin, Fred, the older of the two brothers, is a backfield candidate. Other ball carriers such as Al Cannava, Jackie Farrell, Willie De Rosa, Bernie Lanoue, Jim Benedetto and Walter Bovernini give the Eagles an abundance of strenght in the backfield.

HUSKIES' NEW LEADER DEFENSIVE ACE

With the nomination of Jim Papile as Northeastern's 1948 football captain and the prospect of some promising material from the strong freshmen squad, Coach Johnny Grimsell can happily look forward to next fall.

Papile is a former Quincy High star who played on one of the best teams in the city's history.

Papile was Grimsell's pinch man on defense, being used as fullback and center. He succeeds George Makris of Cambridge, who was also a center.

Many Sportsmen Urging Importation of Rabbits

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Their problems multiplying almost as fast as the animals they discussed, a few sportsmen, hunters and officials, attempted to hold a hearing at the State House yesterday, warming over the controversial subject of whether or not cottontail rabbits should be imported into Massachusetts. Unfortunately, since the hearing had not been announced properly, a scant representation of those interested were on hand.

Although there is not any law prohibiting the importation of rabbits into this state, at the request of Public Health officials, clubs and other groups haven't brought this species here for the past two seasons, due to the alleged danger of the dread disease, tularemia. And the last word was responsible for much "oration" at the hearing.

"I believe rabbits should be imported, if the disease can be checked," stated Joseph Phaneuf, president of the Worcester County League of Sportsmen's Clubs. "Since ticks leave the animals during cold weather, I suggest that rabbits be brought in during the months of January, February and March."

Harold McGregor, representing the Eastern Mass. Beagle Club, Inc., had a great deal to say on the subject, declaring: "We do not want to threaten the health of the public, but how is it that such states as New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and others release thousands of imported rabbits each year? Predators destroy myriads of rabbits annually, and our organization desires more for propagation. I recommend that rabbits be imported."

Striking another note into this symphony of outdoorsmen, Everett St. John, of the State Council of Sportsmen's Clubs, said: "This hearing is far from complete, for the farmers and land owners should be here . . . I recommend that some rabbits be sent in, then quarantined and placed under careful study."

George McGarvey, of the Tri-County Beagle Club and the Stoughton Fish and Game Club, remarked: "I've handled hundreds of rabbits during the past 30 years, but I've never encountered tularemia."

Doctors from the Health Dept. showed that some of the rabbits in states allowing importation already are infected; hence, there was little to lose by more coming into those areas, also arguing that since New England, and the Bay State, particularly, is free of tularemia, why invite its possible outbreak here.

Director James Power, of the Fisheries and Game Div., stated that his experts have designed an individual holding cage for rabbits, adding that two stations could be established, where imported animals could be checked.

Boucher to Bring Fast Sextet Here

The old war horse of hockey, George "Buck" Boucher, former player-coach of the old Bruins Cubs hockey club, leads his Ottawa Senators into Boston Arena next Sunday night to face Boston Olympics.

Boucher first played organized hockey in the 1910-11 season with the Aberdeens in the Ottawa City League. He played 13 seasons with Ottawa Senators, two years with Montreal Maroons and one year with Chicago Blackhawks. He is the brother of Frank, former New York Rangers star and present manager-coach of the Rangers.

Buck claims that the Senators, leaders in the Quebec loop race, are the fastest amateur outfit in all Canada, and is confident that his charges will come out on top in the Quebec League standings.

Before meeting the Senators, the Olympics will play their ancient rivals, New York Rovers, at the Arena Saturday night.

BU Figures Show Hatch Top Back in Rushing

A compilation of statistics for the six BU games this fall indicates that Bobby Hatch, the Melrose speed merchant, is both in opinion and fact the No. 1 back on the Terrier squad.

Hatch leads the team in rushing, both in total yardage and yards per try, with 263 yards in 32 attempts for an average of 8.2. Only Don Giles has carried the ball more than Hatch, but the Terrier captain has amassed an average of only 3.1 yards in 43 tries for 134 yards.

Rambling Robert also tops the Terriers in total offense with 279 yards. Right on his heels is Don Giles with 272 yards. The record seems to show that the Terrier leader has not exhibited such poor form after all. Don holds the best passing average as far as percentage figures are concerned, having completed five passes in eight attempts for 138 yards.

Mastermind Johnny Toner, better known as "Mr. T.," leads the passers in yardage gained. Johnny connected 16 times in 38 tries for 239 yards. Billy Tighe, understudy to Toner, has completed 10 of his 20 attempts for 174 yards.

Wingman George Boston leads the Terrier in the pass receiving department, despite the fact that he missed one complete game, and most of another. The transferee from Harvard has garnered ten aerials for 184 yards. His closest rival is Walt Anderson, 172-pound end who has picked up 109 yards in six catches.

Coach "Buff" Donelli stated that Hatch merited special praise for his work on pass defense. During the spring session, Bobby was so poor on judging the path of enemy aerials, that he was assigned to cover one man only, and Giles and Toner were to carry the extra load.

However, Bob has been working steadily to improve himself, and he suddenly seemed to find his hidden talent in the William & Mary tussle. In that game, the flashy halfback saved at least two tallies by snatching the ball from intended receivers and he continued his fine work against Fordham.

Donelli has indicated that he will spend the remainder of the week working on straight fundamentals. The BU mentor is very dissatisfied with the blocking of the Terriers and movies of previous games bear him out. The greatest weakness hampering the team is a lack of good, hard blocking.

The Dartmouth frosh roster is adorned with the names of several Greater Boston boys . . . Joe Morelli, former Medford and Exeter Academy guard heads the list . . . Another local lad will be facing an old teammate of his . . . John Skewes, Dartmouth's 190-pound fullback will be facing BU's John O'Grady . . . Both played on the same team last year when Concord High captured the state title

HC Coach Attends Brother's Funeral

WORCESTER, Nov. 6 (AP)—The Holy Cross squad practiced today without Head Coach John Da Grosa who is in Atlantic City for his brother's funeral.

The coach was presented a $1500 bond and $500 cash last night at a testimonial banquet which ended after the emotionally overcome Da Grosa asserted: "This is the last year I'll be away from my family."

He quickly assured questioners that his remark had nothing to do with his coaching tenure at Holy Cross, merely to the fact his family was in Atlantic City and would be with him in the near future.

J. CALLURA VS. AL SMITH

Big Green Grooms Dey As Passer Against Lions

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 6 (AP)—Bill Dey, used principally as a defensive back, is expected to be one of Dartmouth's better passers Saturday against Columbia in New York. Dey did some fine passing yesterday when a depleted squad worked overtime against Columbia plays and then endeavored to smooth its own attack.

Houston, Kenary OK for Tiger Game

Coach Dick Harlow received an early Christmas present in the form of a medical report when his two stars, Howard Houston and Jim Kenary, were given the green light for Saturday's tussle with Princeton. The decision had been postponed until yesterday after the two had worked out lightly all week with the doctors finally decreeing that they would be ready for action after watching them go through their paces.

The news comes as a shot in the arm to the Harvard squad. After losing a close one to Dartmouth and being trampled over by Rutgers the return of the pair is a big lift. Dick Harlow welcomed the news and, despite still being worried about whether Kenary will be 100 per cent effective after such a long layoff, feels sure that the team will show the results of their improved player status.

When Kenary left the field in the middle of the Virginia game he was a tailback. Now he is operating in the quarterback post. An excellent passer, the sophomore will be showing his talented right arm to the Tigers Saturday on many a play. The Harvard aerial attack has been confined to a minimum this season and rejuvenated Crimson followers will be looking for the brilliant spiral artist to spark the offense to new heights.

With Kenary in the passing quarterback spot, Hal Moffie will be holding down the tailback berth. Developing into the best runner on the team in the last few weeks, the shifty scatback will be the main cog in the running attack along with wingback Chip Gannon. The two have produced quite a one-two punch. First Gannon nits one end and then Moffie the other. Both of them can run and are almost as good as gold once they hit the secondary. Filling out the starting quarter will be little Paul Lazzaro who scoots through the line with all the speed of an arrow.

It's a fast Harvard backfield, and a dangerous one. With Kenary offering a changeup in the form of his deadly aerials and the three speedsters providing plenty of deception with their running, the Harvard offense will be at its highest point since Captain Vince Moravec was sidelined a month ago. Ken O'Donnell will be used on the defense and will see some action in the quarterback post on the offense. Leo Flynn and Jim Noonan will understudy Moffie at tailback with Sam Adams alternating with Lazzaro on the offense and George Goodrich taking the defensive assignment.

In the line, the return of Houston will solve the tackle problem that has been hounding the Crimson coach for the past two weeks. John Gorczynski has returned to the active list and will operate on the other side of the line. Bolstering these two will be Nick Rodis, Dean Markham, and Chet Pierce, Doug Bradlee, who filled in last week is out with an injury.

End Bob Kennedy who has been plagued with bad luck all season got his final dose yesterday when it was announced by the doctor that he will be out for the rest of the year, due to the injury he received last week. He was hurt in the first game of the year with Western Maryland and has not been right physically since then.

Wally Flynn has returned to his end post and will be a definite starter against the Tigers. The big Arlington boy was switched back to bolster the flanks which had been weakened by the move of John Fiorentino to the center post. The other end will be a toss-up between Tom Felt and Red Hill. Drvaric and Feinburg, the two iron men of the team, will be starting at guard for the third straight week.

Vince Moravec has been a regular visitor to the practice sessions now that he is out of his wheelchair . . . the sidelined captain is walking around on crutches . . . the Tigers have another passing back, other than Dick West. In the person of Bud Cowie who chucks them from the port side . . . the fastest man on the Princeton squad is fleet George Sella who holds down the wingback berth in Coach Charlie Caldwell's varied formations consisting of a basic single wing with flankers and spread ends

AILING BRUINS OK

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 6 (AP)—Four players, sidelined yesterday because of scrimmage-suffered injuries, are expected to be ready to play for Brown Saturday against Yale in New Haven. They are end Paul Flick, guard Milt Hodosh, halfback Marty Gresh and fullback George Paterno.

AERIAL ATTACK

DURHAM, N. H., Nov. 6 (AP) — New Hampshire's well drilled football team which takes its unbeaten, untied record against Tufts Saturday, is preparing for a Tufts aerial attack and perfecting its own passing.

Bruce Mather, NH quarterback from Medford, Mass., site of Tufts College, has completed 39 of 62 passes this season for a total gain of 768 yards.
